State's Leasing Act Upheld

Supreme Court Grants of Drilling Permit

Validated in Four Specific Cases

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—The constitutionality of the new oil leasing act of the State of California, permitting the leasing of public lands for the drilling of oil wells, was upheld in a decision of the Supreme Court today. The ruling was in the case of California v. Superior Court, which was one of four cases in which the court was asked to validate the act. The act provides for the leasing of public lands for the drilling of oil wells, and for the payment of a royalty to the State of California. The court's decision was a victory for the State of California, and for the oil industry.

United States and Cuba Said to be Among Five That Will Seek Solution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP)—The agreement between Bolivia and Paraguay to settle their long-standing dispute over the Chaco region, known as the "Chaco Protocol," was announced today. The protocol provides for the settlement of the dispute by a commission of five nations, including the United States and Cuba. The agreement was a significant step towards restoring peace and stability in South America.

THE DAY'S NEWS SUMMED UP

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—The day's news was dominated by the Supreme Court's decision upholding the California oil leasing act, and the announcement of the Chaco Protocol between Bolivia and Paraguay. Other news items included the death of a prominent businessman, and the discovery of a new planet.

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (To the Editor of The Times):

The old year went out tonight through the necks of millions of bottles. It's a good thing the drys won at the last election. New York couldn't-a carried any more. There's not an idle flask in the city tonight. If they would just give the poor the empty bottles and let me sell 'em there would be no poverty for a year. Our musical shows are getting $11 a seat tonight. That's box office prices, and one patron was able to get one at that price at the box office and dropped dead with amnesia before he could get to it. It would take Coolidge, Smith and Hoover playing the Three Musketeers in Yiddish to be worth $11.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SIX DOCTORS VISIT KING

London Public Anxious

Monarch's Great Weakness Continues to Worry Medical Men

Bulletin Reports Good Day and No Change in Condition

LONDON, Dec. 31. (AP)—The large array of doctors again in consultation today at Buckingham Palace over the condition of King George tended to keep public feeling in anxious suspense. There were six physicians, exclusive of the two ultraviolet-ray experts.

The medical bulletin tonight, however, was on the whole of a favorable character. It read:

"The King had a good day. There is no change in the conditions noted this morning. Bacteriological examination shows that the extent and potency of the local infection are diminishing."

In addition to the three regular doctors it was signed by Bacteriologist Whitby, who made the latest and several earlier examinations of His Majesty.

The King's extreme weakness clearly continues to be a matter that gives his physicians the greatest anxiety. The medical opinion expressed weeks ago that much patience will be needed on the slow road to recovery becomes increasingly evident with every day that passes.

If the patient could be induced to take more nourishment the pace of his recovery from the exhaustion of six weeks of serious illness might be accelerated. At present it is understood his nourishment consists mainly of two beaten raw eggs daily, supplemented by a little milk and meat and fruit juices.

NEW SERUM AIDS WAR ON PNEUMONIA

Pledge of Millionaire on Death of Wife Results in Development of Remedy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP)—A pledge made by a New York millionaire to aid science in fighting pneumonia after his wife's death from the disease four years ago has resulted in the development of a serum that is expected to cut sharply into the death toll from the malady.

Dr. George W. McCoy of the United States Public Health Service, who aided in the development of the serum, said that L. N. Lister, a millionaire, gave him a million dollars to develop a serum to fight pneumonia after his wife's death from the disease four years ago.

The new serum is based on a serum formerly used in the treatment of pneumonia, and is said to be much more potent.

World Altitude Record Claimed

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 31. (AP)—A world altitude record was claimed for a flight made today by Pilot Joaquin Gonzalez Pacheco and an American copilot, C. E. McMillen.

In a Stinson monoplane equipped with a Wasp motor of 400 horsepower, they reached an altitude of 6140 meters (20,140 feet) carrying a load of 2070 kilograms (about 4565 pounds) including six passengers.

The plane is the "Emilio Carranza" in which Gonzalez and Fritz Beller made a nonstop flight from Windsor, Ont., to Tampico several months ago and in which Gonzalez and McMillen plan to fly to Buenos Aires.

Question Mark's Rival Delayed

MARSHALL (Mo.) Dec. 31. (AP)—Blaine M. Tuxhorn, Kansas City aviator, tonight postponed until tomorrow his take-off here for an attempt to set a new world's endurance flight record because of a heavy snow which blanketed the airport.

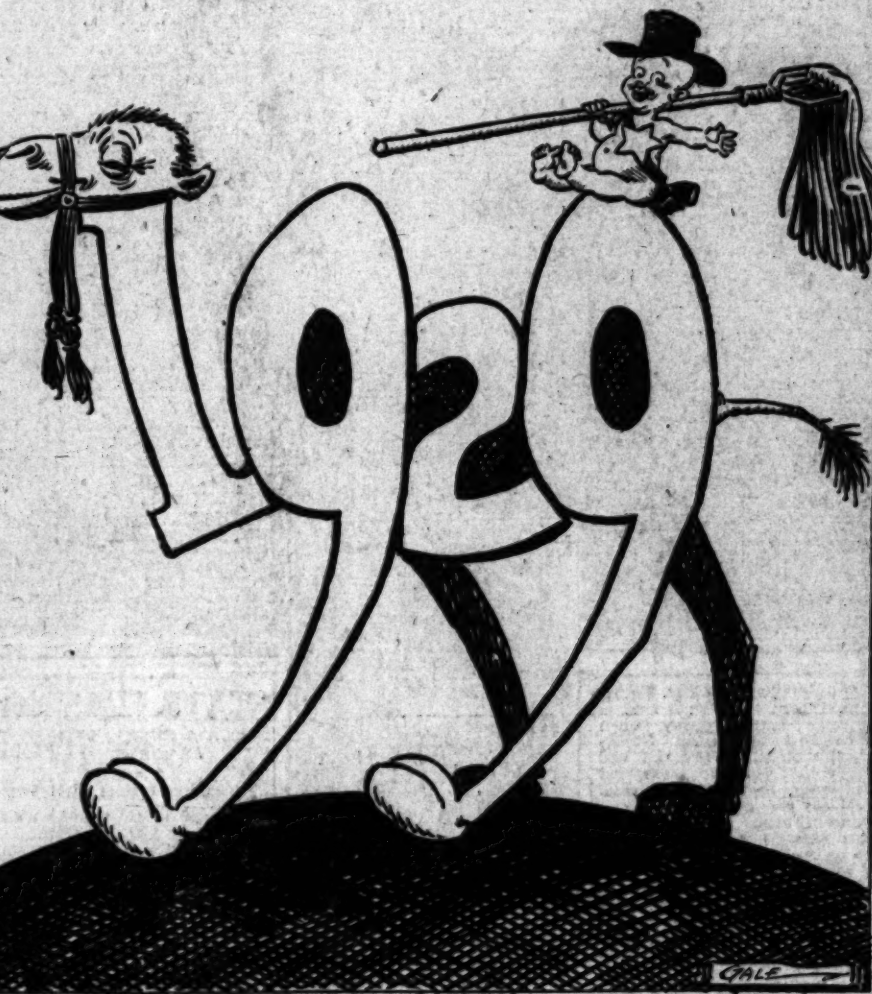

Tuxhorn and his co-pilot, Leonard Rhiner, had hoped to begin their flight in an open cockpit sixty-horsepower monoplane at midnight in order to beat the Question Mark, trimotor army plane, in the race to set a new record.

Fair Forecast Made for Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—The Weather Bureau's New Year wish to California is for fair weather with sunny skies. There is only one little qualification. Although the forecast is "fair with mild temperatures," the report cited the presence of a low-pressure area in the northeast Pacific whose extent and depth is shrouded in considerable mystery because there are not enough ships in the area to prepare comprehensive data.

In other words, if it does not rain—Happy New Year.

"Happy New Year!"

GAY, WILD, WET THROG IN NEW YORK

Activities of Dry Agents and Police Fail to Rout Ardent of Merry Diners

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—New York ushered the old year out tonight with all accustomed gaiety, the celebration seemingly little diminished by the actions of police and prohibition agents who started raiding restaurants and night clubs at dusk.

Hotels, restaurants (where there was music) and night clubs did a rushing business with all reservations taken days ago and hundreds more seeking admittance tonight.

At the Hotel Astor, in Times Square, the line-up waiting for admission to the private dining-rooms and the main ballroom stretched out through all the doors. It is estimated hundreds were turned away before 9 p.m. Similar conditions prevailed nearly everywhere.

There was a tinge of sadness in the merry-making at the Waldorf Astor, soon to be torn down and replaced by a fifty-story skyscraper. The old red-brick hostelry was crowded to the doors by these easy-going New Year's party in its famous old ballroom and dining hall.

The first raid of police was made just at dusk when they invaded a French restaurant on West Fifteenth street just outside the village, and confiscated 400 bottles of assorted wines and liquors. Two women, the proprietress and a waitress, were arrested.

Prohibition agents swung into action later, raiding seven places in the Bronx and midtown Manhattan before midnight. Arrests were made and liquors seized at all seven places.

Although many suspects were arrested in almost every case, no one has been convicted of a bombing during the year.

Officials say the hurrying of bombs has become a profession practiced by specialized crews or gangs.

American Shot in Afghanistan

LONDON, Dec. 31. (AP)—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Peshawar, northwest frontier province, India, tonight cabled that Mrs. Carol Isaacson was wounded while driving in an automobile under the American flag through the streets of Kabul, Afghanistan.

She was on her way to seek shelter in a legation. The wound was slight and is healing.

Ninety Rescued in Hospital Fire

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 31. (AP)—Firemen, police and members of the Louisville Salvage Corps today rescued ninety persons, including forty babies, from the smoke-filled corridors and rooms of the Salvation Army Susan Speed Davis Home and Hospital, scene of a fire which finally was extinguished with $2000 property damage.

Inventor Tells of New Radio Selectivity Aid

CHICAGO, Dec. 31. (AP)—Announcement that he has perfected a device for selecting radio messages of programs, although another station may be operating on the same wavelength, was made here today by J. B. Barnes.

Barnes, who is a prototype speaker, said his device is not a wave-trap, but a method of eliminating one signal by a system similar to that used by telephone engineers in sending several messages over one wire. He said he will not make the details public pending application for patent rights.

Tests made on KEX and KOB, both operating on 2541 meters, proved the practicability of his method, he asserted.

Chicago Lists 100 Bombings, No Convictions

CHICAGO, Dec. 31. (AP)—"Pineapples," the fruits of violence sown by gangsters and racketeers, have cost Chicago at least $300,000 this year, probably much more. More than 100 bombings have been exploded in Chicago this year. Even officials here in public life were targets.

A reaction then will start in the forecasts, but it will remain shiveringly cold for several days.

The frigid area is descending upon the Midwest out of Alaska and is coming along at a merry clip. Its approach will be heralded tonight by snow, which may reach a depth of an inch, Mr. Donnel says.

At 7 a.m. today the frigid blast had penetrated as far as Southern Minnesota and was advancing in a southeasterly direction. The lowest temperature reported in the United States was 14 deg. below zero at Devils Lake, N. D.

In Western Canada the cold yesterday morning was intense. At The Pas, Man., the low was 18 below zero, and at Prince Albert, Sask., 25 below. Points in the interior of Alaska had a minimum around 40 below.

RAILROAD TO DAM SITE ANNOUNCED

Union Pacific Will Build Line from Las Vegas, Nev., to Black Canyon

OMAHA, Dec. 31. (AP)—Plans of the Union Pacific System call for a railroad from Las Vegas, Nev., to Black Canyon on the Colorado River when arrangements are completed for construction of Boulder dam, Carl Gray, president of the system, said today.

Las Vegas is a large shop and terminal point on the system's main line from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles.

"A branch rail line must wait until ratification of the so-called Colorado compact by at least six interested States, which may take several months," said Mr. Gray.

"In the meantime, however, plans may be completed so that actual work can be started as soon as the pact is ratified."

The railroad executive said the road is following development of plans for Boulder dam with a view to giving all possible assistance to the Department of the Interior.

HEAT BOWS TO SCIENCE

End of Tropics' Bane in Sight

Comfort in Sizzling Lands, Even for Fat Persons, Now Prospects

Latest Finds Promise Aid in Acclimating Whites to Torridity

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—Greater comfort of living in hot lands, possibly even for fat men, was forecast today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Discoveries which promise to aid in acclimating whites to races to tropic heat were outlined by Dr. L. V. Heilbrunn of Woods Hole, Mass. He said experiments indicated that fat probably is the determining factor in adjustment of human beings to tropical temperatures.

To laymen a significant fact is that the nature of the fat, rather than amount, determines the ease of standing heat.

Experimenting with animals to discover why some stand tropic heat comfortably, while others are killed by relatively cool weather, Dr. Heilbrunn said the differences are found in the melting point of fat in the two extremes. Those which thrive in heat possess fat which does not melt until temperatures are high, while creatures of temperate zones almost literally justify the well-known summertime exclamation about melting on a hot day.

Next the Woods Hole experiments set about finding whether climate produced by some fat could develop those of the tropics. They found that living in warmer climates produced the fats more adaptable to heat.

LIFE EXTENSION RESULT

With this knowledge fixed, they studied how to aid nature's process, and found one way in diet. Fruits and vegetables native to the tropics proved to contain properties for making the comfortable fats for hot climates.

Dr. Heilbrunn concluded that it is the increase of populations makes it necessary for more persons to move to the tropics to find elbow room. It may be possible for the white race to acclimate themselves to the point of remaining comfortable and productive.

The earning capacity of the population of the United States as a whole has been increased by the recent census, he said. The average of the statistical bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. He said this is because more persons live to be 45 years of age, the age of the average maximum earning period of "the working population."

"Another indirect benefit," he continued, "is that many hundreds of thousands of children who under the former mortality would have been orphaned, are reaching their seventeenth year, today are enjoying the benefits of a normal upbringing, under the care of their parents."

NEW SPIRIT IN SCIENCE AND RELIGION SET FORTH

CHICAGO, Dec. 31. (AP)—A spirit of co-operation between science and religion rapidly is taking the place of the much-discussed conflict between the two, members of the Union Ministers' Conference, in session here, were told today by Rev. Ernest Johnson, secretary of the department of education of the Federal Council of Churches.

The most inspiring contributions to religious thought in recent years have come from great scientists," he declared.

"In the past the assumption of a fundamental conflict between science and religion has done religion an untold injury. It often has put religious leaders in the position of opposing the advancement of knowledge."

Strong forces were expected on the Great Lakes and the Weather Bureau issued an advisory storm warning for craft plying on Lake Michigan.

LONGER LIVES PREDICTED

Analysis of Medical Achievement Indicates Time Nears for Extension of Earthly Span

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—It is a simple thing to extend human life ten or fifteen years, and a great extension, reaching beyond 100 years, is not impossible for the future.

This analysis of medical achievement was presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today by Dr. Eugene L. Flick of New York, medical director of the Life Extension Institute.

"When I am asked," he said, "as to the probable future of human life in the remote future, I am compelled to answer that science has no present data on which to determine this, but that the prolongation of human life far beyond the most present favorable life cycle lies within the legitimate bounds of scientific effort."

"I am willing to admit that only a comparatively limited extension of human life, say ten or fifteen years, can be attained by simple adjustment of personal hygiene and the correction of physical defects. It may well be that any great extension of human life, say beyond 100 years, must be attained by some specific means, especially by control of the endocrine glands."

"The idea of time having an effect on aging and decay is as baseless as the jargon of a voodoo savage. Old age is a disease. The things that happen in the course of time are the influential factors."

"One of the greatest obstacles to prolonging human life lies in the acceptance, at least tacitly and subconsciously, of the thesis that such effort is more or less futile, that

BOY SLAYING ADMITTED

Life Term Given Mrs. Northcott

Surprising Confession Made by Mother of Accused Riverside Youth

Discuss Crime and Hopes for Death En Route to San Quentin

Mrs. Louise Northcott yesterday morning brought the notorious Riverside murder case to a sensational new climax when she appeared before Superior Judge Morton at Riverside, pleaded guilty to the murder of Walter Collins and within a few minutes was speeding on her way to San Quentin to spend the rest of her life.

The mother of Gordon Stewart Northcott, who the State charges murdered four boys on his isolated farm, was scheduled to arrive at the State prison this morning in custody of Sheriff and Mrs. Clem Sweeters of Riverside, after her sudden reversal of former contention of innocence to complicity in the murder orgy officials declared took place on the Riverside county ranch.

Appearance of the acknowledged murderer in court yesterday followed a written confession she made to Dep. Dist. Atty. Redwin of Riverside Sunday afternoon, after Sheriff Sweeters had been informed by Mrs. Northcott that she had discharged her attorney, Norbert Savary, and wanted "to make a statement."

THREATEN SUICIDE

As the train bearing her north entered the Mojave Desert late last night, Mrs. Northcott was convulsed with one of her many varied moods and threatened several times to take her life.

Between threats against herself and sob for her accused son, the 31-year-old mother denied that the youth who confessed to the slaying of Walter Collins, kidnapped from his home here last March, despite the written and oral statement she made to officials and in court.

"What have I got to live for now?" Mrs. Northcott sobbed as Mrs. Sweeters attempted to console her while the train sped across desert country.

"A new life is beginning for you both physically and spiritually," Mrs. Sweeters explained to her. "It's a new life and a new year, but I will start the New Year with a number instead of a name," she meant.

DESERVED SENTENCE

"I deserve this sentence, but I probably won't serve much of it. My boy now is expected from me and he is all I have to live for. If there is a God I will know soon," Mrs. Northcott sobbed.

The last statement was the third suicide threat the woman made during the most hectic day she has spent since her capture in Canada, after she and her son had fled from the United States, following the arrest on an immigration charge of Sanford Clark, Mrs. Northcott's grandson, who later exposed the alleged murder.

Shortly before time for her train to depart from Los Angeles last night Mrs. Northcott arrived at the Southern Pacific station, flanked on one side by Sheriff Sweeters of Riverside and on the other by his assistant, Ben De Crevecoeur. Glens Helen Ingram, wife of Mrs. Sweeters, who acted as matron on the journey to the bleak island prison in San Francisco Bay.

REMAINS' ADAMANT

Immediately after she was settled in her compartment, Assistant Chief Deputy Sheriff Bright of Los Angeles said she was adamant.

Self-Proclaimed Boy Slayer on Way to Cell

First intimation that Mrs. Northcott was about to make a confession came early Sunday when she called Mrs. Clem Sved, ex-jail matron, to her cell and told her that she had discharged her attorney, Savary, who is chief counsel for the defense.

Sheriff Sweeters immediately informed Redwine, who went to the reception room of the jail to interview the accused woman.

"I wish to make a statement, in fact, I want to confess," Mrs. Northcott told Redwine.

Like her son, who alternately confessed and then retracted his statements over a period of several days, Mrs. Northcott apparently believed her written statement needed amplifying, and within a few minutes was pouring out the details of the Collins boy's murder.

Yesterday's court session was brief to the extreme. Judge Morton, after her plea, without hesitation pronounced the sentence that dooms the 16-year-old woman to spend the rest of her life behind prison walls.

As the Clark youth was led into the courtroom by officers from the Riverside County Hospital detention ward, where he is held as a material witness, he faced his grandmother for the first time since he was arrested August 31, last, on an immigration charge brought by his sister, Jesse, which precipitated the flight of the woman and her son to Canada, where they fought against extradition.

Clark, who is 15 years of age, met his grandmother face to face as he left the witness stand. He paused to tell her for a moment and then smiled timidly.

The woman glared coldly, but showed no other emotional sign. Clark flushed and turned away.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Morton asked her the customary routine question of whether there was any reason why judgment should not be pronounced then.

She arose from her chair at the counsel table excitedly and attempted to tell the court that her son is guilty of any connection with the asserted murders of Louis and Nelson Winans, Walter Collins and an unidentified Mexican whose headless body was found near Puente a year ago.

When ordered to be silent she muttered: "Do as you see fit."

SENTENCE PASSED

"You have been guilty of one of the most heinous crimes ever committed in Riverside county," Judge Morton began his sentence to the woman. "You have murdered Walter Collins, a defenseless boy, in cold blood. It is only because you are a woman that I do not sentence you to be hanged. I sentence you to State's prison for the remainder of your life."

NORTHCOTT TO KEEP UP FIGHT

Insanity Grounds Will be Used in Defense

Letter of Mother Causes Laughs and Shivers

Woman Makes Statement on Son's Parentage

Gordon Stewart Northcott will not follow his mother's example in pleading guilty to the asserted murders on his Winville chicken farm and will fight the indictments against him on the insanity grounds planned by his attorneys several days.

This was made plain by the accused youth and his counsel yesterday when Northcott appeared before Superior Judge Woods, who postponed his Los Angeles trial until the 28th inst., by which time the Riverside trial is expected to be concluded.

MORE VACCILLATION

Northcott again showed his vacillating temperament when he at first refused and then accepted a letter offered to him by Sheriff Sweeters which his mother sent immediately following Judge Morton's sentence imprisoning her for life in San Quentin.

"I don't want a letter from mother. I don't like her, anyway," the youth declared when he was led into the office of County Jail Warden, where a large group of attorneys, alienists and officials watched him as he shunned the Riverside official.

LETTER TO SON

Mrs. Northcott's note to her son read in full:

"Dear Stewart: Mr. Sweeters is going out for you and is a wonderful man. Will advise you best he knows as to what you do. It will be better to finish it out of court if possible. I went over this morning and pleaded guilty and got life in San Quentin. Thought better than to drag life history through court—Sanford testified and said you were their and hit him and you know you were never out of house. Also you brought boy which wasn't true either. Well, dear, just yourself. Will see you, Love, Mother. Just use your own judgment my son."

While officials are convinced that they have sufficient evidence against both the woman and boy to convict them of the asserted chicken farm murders, they also believe the mother's guilty plea yesterday was a futile gesture to throw the weight of the crimes on her shoulders to save her son.

during court here yesterday to have the Los Angeles indictment against Northcott dismissed failed. Less than fifty persons were in Judge Woods' court when the accused youth and his attorneys appeared.

CHICAGO AND ALTON COMPTROLLER EXPIRES

PHOENIX, Dec. 31. (AP)—Ernest S. Benson, 73 years of age, comptroller of the Chicago and Alton Railroad with headquarters at Chicago, died at a local hospital tonight from a complication of pneumonia and heart disease. Mr. Benson came here from Chicago about three weeks ago in an effort to overcome a prolonged attack of insomnia. He was accompanied by F. B. Smith, auditor of passenger accounts for the railroad. Mrs. Smith, who came here to spend Christmas with her husband, was at Mr. Benson's bedside when he died.

ATTEMPT TO EXTRADITE

Attorney Cameron, who successfully fought against Mrs. Northcott's extradition from Calgary, Alta., where she was taken following her capture, arrived yesterday morning on the West Coast Limited to aid in her defense, and within a few hours, before he had seen his client since she was returned from the North, was informed that she had named her own fate.

INQUIRIES SENT

Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay, it is indicated, are the other countries to be selected by the committee to name judges. Inquiries as to whether these countries will be willing to appoint judges were dispatched tonight by the committee.

Although the scope and provisions of the protocol were approved at the committee meeting, the exact text of the document will require further elaboration tomorrow before the signatures of the two disputing countries can be affixed at a ceremony. The proposal, however, will require the ratifications of the executives of both disputing countries before becoming effective.

LANSING (Mich.) Dec. 31. (AP)—A woman who four times had been convicted of selling liquor, was sentenced today to life imprisonment in the Michigan State Prison for a fourth violation of the state's liquor law.

A jury composed of eight men and four women deliberated for three hours and found the woman guilty of a fourth violation of the state's liquor law. Under the code, a fourth violation of the law is a crime punishable by life imprisonment.

Mrs. Miller, 48 years of age, was found guilty of selling liquor in a rooming house in Detroit. She was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Michigan State Prison.

WOMAN IN DRY CASE GETS LIFE

Jury Finds Her Habitual Criminal

Liquor Law Violation Brings Penalty

Attorney Considers Filing Appeal

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Dec. 31. (AP)—The four times had been convicted of selling liquor, Mrs. Miller today was sentenced to life imprisonment in the State House.

A jury composed of eight men and three women deliberated thirteen hours this afternoon and reported that Mrs. Miller was a "habitual criminal."

Under the code a life sentence was mandatory and Judge immediately pronounced the verdict with Judge Colwell.

Mrs. Miller, 48 years of age, disobeys the verdict with Judge Colwell.

"I am guilty because the jury found me so," he told her. "I don't care if it is; I'm not going to be sent to the pen."

APPEAL CONSIDERED
The state will start her sentence immediately, it is said. Meanwhile, the court, State Senator Person, is considering an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

At the same time there is much talk in State circles of a possible reorganization of the Legislature, which is expected to meet in February.

The proceedings were without incident in Michigan. Jurisprudence was the first time a jury had been empaneled to determine whether the "habitual criminal" clause of the law was applicable to a defendant; other respondents charged under the section were waived the jury trial. It was the first time a woman has been sentenced to life imprisonment for selling liquor.

The jury trial was largely a formality, designed to permit the State to establish proof of identity in the case of a woman in which it held Mrs. Miller had been convicted of selling liquor.

STATE OFFERS RECORDS
The state offered its records over a number of years of objection from some courts. A motion for a new trial was denied before selection of today's jury began. The court also refused to quash the indictment against Mrs. Miller, which would have eliminated the habitual criminal charge.

The offense that brought upon Mrs. Miller the state's law was based on a charge made by two detectives. During her trial, she said, she knew her husband, and knew he was selling liquor, and she was his hand bottles to two men in an automobile. Pursuing the case, they saw liquor tossed from the car. In court, the two men testified they were intoxicated. They said they were unable to re-

RUSSIA IN NEW MOVE ON PACT

Protocol Plan Suggested to Poland and Lithuania

Three-Cornered Assurance Against War Sought

Step Urged Pending Action on Kellogg Treaty

MOSCOW, Dec. 31. (AP)—The soviet government today proposed to Poland and Lithuania that pending ratification of the Kellogg renunciation of war pact by all the powers concerned, they agree to sign a protocol giving the pact immediate effect as between themselves.

Pointing out that Poland and soviet Russia signed the Kellogg pact and referring to the reservations made by the soviet government in signing that pact and the motive actuating it to adhere to the instrument, the note continues:

COMMENT ON DELAY
"Unfortunately the entrance into effect of the Paris pact is stipulated in Article III by ratification of the fourteen original signers. During the four months that have elapsed since the day of the signing of the pact not one of these fourteen States has given it ratification which circumstances arouse the fear that for a long time the pact may remain a document formally without binding power on any one. Obviously earlier enforcement of the pact as between individual states is possible only by their signing a special supplementary obligation."

The note, quoted by the press, then goes on:

STEP EXPLAINED
"Considering that the assurance of peace in East Europe is a matter of paramount importance and that among the western countries bordering the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the Paris treaty was signed by Poland, the soviet government decided to address the Polish government with the proposal to sign the attached protocol which renders the Paris treaty renouncing war effective between the soviet union and Poland immediately upon its ratification by these two states regardless of the condition stipulated in Article III of the pact."

"By signing the said protocol, the Polish government would undertake of course, the moral obligation of the speediest simultaneous ratification both of the Paris treaty and the protocol itself. As regards the union of socialist soviet republics, its adherents to the Paris pact already has been ratified by the presidium of the central executive committee."

WARSAW OFFICIALS WELCOME PROPOSAL
WARSAW (Poland) Dec. 31. (AP)—A proposal by the soviet union that Russia and Poland sign a protocol putting the Kellogg multilateral pact into immediate effect between the two countries without waiting for its ratification by other powers, was welcomed in official circles here today.

LYNCHED NEGRO SET AFIRE

Mississippi Mob Lights Huge Pyre Under Slayer and Kidnaper After Shooting Him

ROME (Miss.) Dec. 31. (AP)—Charley Shepherd, negro, asserted murderer and abductor, was burned on a funeral pyre here tonight. After mutilating his body and firing several shots into it the mob of several hundred men placed the negro on a pile of logs, threw gasoline over it and set it afire.

John Osborne, Associated Press staff correspondent, the first newspaper man to reach the scene, said the lynching occurred about 8 p.m. The negro, he was informed, admitted he had killed J. D. Duval, employee of the State prison farm at Parchman, and abducted his 18-year-old daughter. He took all the blame, absolving two bunk mates who had been linked with the crimes.

BODY ON ROAD
The lynching took place about twenty-five feet from a public road, and when Osborne arrived an hour later the body still was on the pyre. He was told by persons at the scene that it would be left there.

The negro had been seized by a mob near Cleveland shortly after he had surrendered to a woman plaintiff, and he and several men had started to take him to jail. A posse of some 2000 men, aided by National Guard officers, had been searching for the negro since last Friday morning when Mrs. Duval discovered that her husband had been stabbed and beaten to death and her daughter kidnapped.

GIVE NEGRO UP
Today Miss Laura Mae Keeler received word from Shepherd's brother, Tom, one of her employees, that Charley was on her plantation and wanted to surrender. Sending word to white neighbors about the report, Miss Keeler went unarmed to the cabin where the convict was hiding and he gave himself up. A few minutes later she and two white men, with Miss Keeler driving, started out to take him to some safe place to avoid violence.

"We got in a car and started for Parchman, but met such a mob that we tried to make it to Cleveland and turn him over to the sheriff, but a mile and a half from Cleveland they took him away from us," Miss Keeler said.

ANTHROPOLOGY FUND GIVEN

Rockefeller Donates $200,000 for Santa Fe Project to Aid Scientific Research

SANTA FE (N. M.) Dec. 31. (AP)—Announcement of an initial gift of $200,000 by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to establish a laboratory of anthropology in Santa Fe, and an additional gift of $70,000 for the budget, was announced by the trustees of the proposed research institute here today.

Mr. Rockefeller's contributions to the budget, the announcement said, will be as follows: $200,000 in 1929; $20,000 in 1931; $15,000 in 1932; $10,000 in 1933 and $5000 in 1934.

"In each of these years," the announcement said, "Mr. Rockefeller will match dollar for dollar contributions received from other sources to an amount equal to one-half the difference between his original gift for that year and $40,000."

SITE ACQUIRED
Preliminary work on the ambitious project to establish in Santa Fe an institute of anthropology to become the center of those studies in the United States was started two years ago by the purchase of a 10-acre site on the south side of the city.

The organization to promote the institute was formed in New York June 6, 1927. The incorporators are K. M. Chapman of the Indian arts fund; R. B. Dixon of Harvard University; F. W. Hodge of the Museum of the American Indian; N. M. Judd of the Smithsonian Institution; A. V. Kidder of Phillips Academy; Sprague C. Merley of Carnegie Institution of Washington and Clark Wissler, American Museum of Natural History.

PURPOSE EXPLAINED
The executive committee has Mr. Kidder as chairman, Mr. Chapman as secretary, Mr. Dixon as president of the University of Chicago, and Miss Elizabeth White of the Eastern Association of Indian Affairs and J. F. Zimmerman, president of the University of Mexico, as members.

The purpose of the institution is to conduct anthropological research, be a clearinghouse for information for research workers, serve as a repository for research material, become an institution of public education, conduct a traveling museum, issue magazine matter in co-operation with science service, maintain a field training school and have facilities for research workers.

HECKE URGES UNITY IN FARM EMERGENCY
COMING SESSION POINTED TO AS OPPORTUNITY FOR CO-OPERATION

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—George H. Hecke, State Director of Agriculture, today issued a New Year's statement urging the farmers of California to unite in attempting to solve their problems. "While California agriculture," said Hecke, "is not in acute distress, nevertheless many branches are not making a profit or are losing money."

"The coming Legislature, which will be asked to pass many laws, some likely to be helpful and others harmful to the interest of the farmer, will afford an opportunity for the broadest co-operation of all agricultural influences."

"Ultimate and declarations of war will not get us anywhere. By bringing together the brains and judgment of all, making such adjustments and concessions as may be necessary to compose differences and obtain united effort, plans should be determined which will result in successful accomplishment."

"Without agreement of agriculture's sincere friends and representatives, opportunities for legislative relief and assistance are sure to be lessened."

POINCARÉ PLAN TO QUIT BALKED

Resignation Proposed Due to Nation's Unrest

French Cabinet Persuades Premier to Remain

Need of His Leadership on Reparations Cited

PARIS, Dec. 31. (AP)—Premier Poincaré today frankly told his Cabinet that he had accomplished his main task and was ready to resign because of present unrest. But the Cabinet persuaded him he has much to do, particularly in regard to reparations, and he agreed to remain.

At the opening of the Cabinet session Premier Poincaré told his colleagues that he had reorganized the Armistice Day ministry in order to insure prompt adoption of the budget. This had been done before the end of the year and as stabilization of money was assured, he felt his work was done.

The Premier concluded by saying that in view of the complex situation he would present the Cabinet's resignation to President Doumergue. All the ministers devoted themselves to convincing the Premier that the government faces a grave problem in revision of reparations and adjustment of domestic political differences. They unanimously declared that Poincaré's continuance as head of the government was "indispensable."

Poincaré, in the opinion of his supporters, by consenting to remain definitely avoided a crisis and greatly strengthened his hand by compelling the whole Cabinet in which there was reported to be dissension to insist upon his retention in the leadership. The Premier therefore will face Parliament when it convenes on January 8, next, and lead a debate on the general policy of the government which the Cabinet decided today shall be on lines already followed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—New Year's Day promises to be drab so far as official Washington is concerned, due to the absence of President and Mrs. Coolidge and the lack of the usual White House reception. But after Congress reconvenes Thursday there will be political excitement galore. Chronologically here are some of the major events in the national capital's schedule for the days just ahead:

HOOVER'S CALIFORNIA BALLOTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—When California's thirteen electors vote for Herbert Hoover for President of the United States at Sacramento Wednesday their ballots will be placed within a specially designed ballot box which will be taken to Washington for presentation to the new Chief Executive of the nation.

Upon an ebony base and mounted upon a perfect specimen of California onyx, a golden bear, emblematic of this State, and carved from California redwood, stands guard over the ballots which will fit into a niche in the base of the unusual ballot box.

The bear was fashioned from a redwood slab from Humboldt county, one of the banner Republican counties at the November election, and has been given special coats of heavy gold leaf.

A gold plate upon the base, which also will serve as a desk set which the California electors have will rest on the desk of the new President in the White House executive office, bears the inscription:

"Presented to honorable Herbert Hoover by the members of the Electoral College of California—1929."

HOOVER SENDS FEW GREETINGSNew Year's Eve Quiet for Battleship UtahPresident-elect Retires to Rest EarlyParty Planned Today With Mock Reception

U.S.S. UTAH, Dec. 31. (P)—The eve of the new year, which will see him elevated to the Presidency, found Herbert Hoover resting quietly on board the battleship Utah as it ploughed its way northward toward the United States.

While the rest of the world was celebrating the arrival of 1929, the President-elect, homeward bound from a mission of good will to Latin America, arranged to retire early to be among the few to sleep the old year out and the new year in.

The schedule of the Utah called for the big battleship being approximately 600 miles east of Santo Domingo in the West Indian group. The position was given for midnight at 15:30 deg. north latitude and 50:00 west longitude.

QUET NEW YEAR'S EVE

Members of the Hoover party as well as the officers and crew of the dreadnaught spent New Year's Eve quietly. Sailors massed on the quarter deck to sing popular songs, while Mr. and Mrs. Hoover watched a motion-picture program. They retired immediately after the showing of the films.

The motion-picture program was given outdoors, the spectators sitting on the deck, as the weather was tropical. Also to avoid the heat below, sleeping cots were set up on the deck by some of the men. Because of the Gulf Stream, the weather is expected to continue warm until a few days before the Utah's arrival at Hampton Roads.

It is now thought that the battleship will arrive in the Virginia harbor early Sunday morning and that the Hoover party will take a special train, enabling them to arrive in Washington during the afternoon.

PARTY FOR HOOVER

On New Year's Day the Hoovers will have a surprise party. The ship's officers, newspaper correspondents and members of the party plan to impersonate prominent members of the Diplomatic Corps and stage a burlesque White House New Year's reception.

Mr. Hoover's own New Year's greeting was issued in the Evening Bulletin, the Utah's newspaper. It was addressed to "all our shipmates" and read as follows:

"I wish you all a happy new year."

The President-elect also sent some personal new year's messages to individuals, but only a general message of greeting was reserved for those on board the Utah.

ROUTE TO HAMPTON ROADS,

Dec. 31. (P)—After a thoroughgoing study of the American trade situation in South America, members of the Hoover good-will mission expressed the view today that probably the outstanding need for the stimulation of this commerce is the establishment of American wholesale distributing houses in that continent.

The United States manufacturers, they contend, will be unable to hold a firm place in South American trade unless their local business is conducted by Americans trained in the language and customs of the various republics. They also believe that there will be less propaganda against and less opposition to the United States in South American countries if American business firms have more good representatives of their country on the ground.

FEW AMERICANS

As an illustration, it is pointed out that, while the United States trade with Argentina is far larger than that of Great Britain, there are only 2300 members of the American colony in Buenos Aires, as compared with 40,000 Britons. It is estimated that foreigners distribute 90 per cent of the American goods in that country.

Another advantage of having American distributors would be the beneficial effects on the American merchant marine. It is argued that the national flag is a country's natural asset and that the United States flag for the hauling of commodities and with the foreigners controlling the bulk of the sales of American goods, it is believed they have used the ships of their own country wherever possible.

Owing to the lack of coal and coke in South America, it is contended by the members of the Hoover mission that these countries always will have to import finished iron and steel products, particularly machinery and automobiles. American trade in these things is growing apace in South America because of the United States mass production. This is illustrated, it is said, by reports showing that 88 per cent of all the automobiles sold in South America are made in the United States.

FINANCES IMPROVED

Attention also is called by the President-elect's associates to South America's great volume of raw materials which the United States cannot produce, and these exports can compensate for the imports. It is further argued that, if the United States furnishes capital for the internal development of the southern republics, larger demands for United States goods can be built up.

Another situation in South America which surprised and gratified members of the Hoover mission is the rather remarkable showing in the financial improvement of all Latin-American countries during the past few years.

Taking as a criterion for the stability of national finances four elements—a balanced budget, stabilized currency, payment of interest on external debts and a sound banking system—it is said Venezuela, Brazil, Paraguay, Uruguay, Argentina, Colombia and Costa Rica show a balanced budget, and Chile, Peru, Ecuador and Guatemala are said to be on their way to a balanced budget. Mr. Hoover was told that Bolivia, Panama, Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador still have unbalanced governmental financial ledgers.

CURRENCY STABILIZED

All the countries, Mr. Hoover was informed, have stabilized their currency, except Peru and Guatemala, and both these republics were said to be on the road to stabilization.

All the countries, he was told, also have been meeting their foreign obligations except Paraguay, Bolivia, Ecuador, Guatemala and Honduras, and all except Nicaragua are taking up the present payments and endeavoring to effect refunding operations.

The idea of the American Federal Reserve System is being gradually adopted, the President-elect was informed, in the Latin-American countries.

All the countries save Bolivia, Brazil and Ecuador, Mr. Hoover was told, have a balance of trade sufficient to support their currency without recourse to foreign loans, but Bolivia and Brazil were said to be at the turning point in this respect.

It is expected that the resignation will be accepted.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs today ordered the Indians on the Tuba City and Canyon Diablo (Arizona) reservations to institute a search for Glenn Hyde and his wife, who have been lost for more than a week in the Grand Canyon. SHANGHAI, Dec. 31. (P)—Fifteen hundred British troops of the Shanghai defense force left Shanghai today on the transport Neaula. The British force now numbers 2000 men in comparison with 4700 last year. A United States Marine band played selections when the transport left.

WHISKY LIMITS

Doctor's Quota

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (P)—Physicians wishing to prescribe whisky for patients suffering from influenza can exceed, if necessary, their usual monthly allotment of 100 prescriptions under an announcement today by the Prohibition Bureau.

Fears had been expressed in some quarters that during the present epidemic there would be an insufficient amount of whisky available for influenza sufferers. The law permits a physician to prescribe a pint of whisky for a patient every ten days and allows the physician 100 such prescriptions a month.

TURKEYS ELUDE COOLIDGE
President, Baffled in Hunt, Turns to Making Plans for His Return to Washington
SAPELO ISLAND (Ga.) Dec. 31. (AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge were back at the island home of Howard E. Coffin tonight for a quiet New Year's Eve after a day of many activities which began for the President shortly after sunrise.
Meanwhile, preparations are being made for an early return to Washington, and a resumption of the duties of the executive office. The President has been enjoying his midwinter vacation, but feels that with Congress reconvening on Thursday he should be back in the national capital some time the previous day.

NO WILD TURKEY
The prospect of a wild turkey hunt led Mr. Coolidge to arise this morning before it was fully light. The night had been spent on board the Coffin yacht, the Zapala, which was docked at the mainland hunting lodge and game preserve of his host, and the mist still hung thickly over the marshlands when the President appeared.
Mrs. Coolidge herself was a member of the party which accompanied the Chief Executive into the woodlands of the game preserve, and was as much disappointed as her husband when the hunt failed to produce any game.
Returning to the hunting lodge, the party breakfasted and then re-boarded the Zapala and cruised to St. Simons Island, where yesterday they attended church and inspected places of historic interest.
The occasion of today's visit was the dedication of what now is known as the President Coolidge oak on Sea Island, which is separated from St. Simons by a causeway built for several miles over the salt marshes.

SETS OUT SAILING
A live oak sapling had been set out on the lawn of the Brouster Hotel ready for the President to cover its roots with earth. Charles F. Redden, a business associate of Mr. Coffin, presided at the ceremony, explaining to the President the significance of the tree, which, he said, "it is believed came from the same part of this island" as the live oak timbers which were used in the construction of the old frigate Constitution.

Mother Slain as Burglar
SULPHUR SPRINGS (Tex.) Dec. 31. (AP)—Mistaking his mother for a burglar when she returned last night from a visit with a neighbor, Raymond Wofford shot and killed her as she entered the back door of the home.

CABINET GOSSIP DENIED BY WORK
His Approval of Mrs. Hert for Job Just Rumor
Reports Go on, However, She Will Receive Position
Mrs. Willebrandt Also May Get Consideration
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—Articles in eastern newspapers to the effect Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had indicated approval of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky for appointment to the Hoover Cabinet, drew a denial from Work today.
I am not embarrassing anybody by trying to pick the next Cabinet," Work declared.
Inet possibilities are something I cannot discuss. They are out of my province," he said.
Dr. Work declined to state whether he thinks a woman will be named to the Hoover Cabinet and if so whether it will be Mrs. Hert.
Nevertheless, reports that Mrs. Hert, who is vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, stands a strong chance of being the first woman to break into the Cabinet, continued unabated and today had assumed the proportions of a first-class boom.

TWO KILLED IN CHICAGO BEER WAR
Patrons of Restaurant Hide Under Tables as Six Shots Resound
CHICAGO, Dec. 31. (AP)—Two "tough guys" of the beer racket, William Gunner McPadden and Hugh "Stubby" McGovern, were shot to death early today at the Granada Cafe, Sixty-eighth street and Cottage Grove avenue.
Nearly 200 patrons who had been dining and dancing scurried under tables, dashed for exits or hid behind pillars at the sound of the six shots, fired in rapid succession.
George Mahoney, a pistol in his hand, was arrested as he stood among the frightened guests a moment after the shooting. Police said six shots had been fired from his revolver.
McGovern was described by police as a former associate of Al (Scarface) Capone, and reputed foe of Ralph Sheldon in beer operations on the South Side.
The slayer's marksmanship was unusually accurate, as gang shootings go. Both men were shot through the heart, and there was a bullet hole in McGovern's forehead.
The first shots were wide, giving McGovern a chance to draw his pistol. It was still in his hand, unfired, when he fell.
McPadden had no weapon.

HOLIDAY LIQUOR FREE OF POISON
Dry Commissioner Elated as Deaths Decrease
Reports No Fatalities by Christmas Drinking
Education of Public Given Credit
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran took a look at the immediate past and future of enforcement today, and found encouragement in his report to Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury, that no deaths due to poisoned alcohol have been reported to him during the Christmas holidays.
Summing up the year-end situation, Mr. Doran said a great advance had been made over previous years in relation to fatalities caused by wood alcohol or liquor containing other poisons. He added, however, that a few deaths from acute alcoholism had been reported.
The commissioner attributed the lack of death reports this year to the education of the public and to the new formula used by the prohibition bureau to render alcohol unfit for beverage purposes. The old formula, which included the use of pyridine, was discarded about a year ago and alcohol was substituted.

TULSA'S "MA" DIES
TULSA (Okla.) Dec. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Gillis, the city's oldest resident, some times called "the grandmother of Tulsa" who, according to her count, would have been 115 years of age next February 22, is dead here.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31. (AP)—Wireless messages received here today, said A. Jorgenson, first mate, and E. Peterson, chief steward, had died aboard the Standard Oil tanker W. S. Rheem from drinking poisonous liquor.

Portes Gil Sees Socialistic Era

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 31. (AP)—The newspaper Excelsior said today that President Portes Gil in speaking at the inauguration of an agricultural school in the town of Tepic, declared that such schools will bring about a redemption of the peasant classes by producing standard bearers of Socialistic principles to deliver the peasants from their present conditions. The President said that Socialization of the peasants and labor is desirable because it will weld these two classes together so that they will offer a solid front against "exploiting by capital."

Court Contempt Ruling Attacked

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 31. (AP)—E. A. Miles, attorney for Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, asserted in Federal Court here today that the Indiana Supreme Court has no authority to take action in a case charging a person with indirect contempt of court.
Miles presented his argument before Judge Baltzell in support of Shumaker's petition for a writ of habeas corpus through which the dry leader seeks to escape serving a sixty-day sentence at the State penal farm to which he was recommended by the Supreme Court Friday.

Filipinos Will Oppose Bills

MANILA, Dec. 31. (AP)—A delegation of Filipinos headed by Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate, will be sent to Washington to oppose passage of the Timberlake resolution, which would limit the amount of duty-free sugar exported from the islands into the United States.
The delegation, formation of which was announced today, also will oppose any other legislation before the American Congress which is considered detrimental to the Philippines.

BROKER SOUNDS CAUTION NOTE

Money developments in 1929 will be progressively more unfavorable to the wide public speculation but a really bearish stock market is unlikely for several months. Many speculative campaigns now under way will be completed.

Rails, oils and public utilities will be strong, with occasional pyrotechnics in specialities.—[Hartshorn, Fales & Co., G. A. Younger.

$2,000,000 to the City University (the quarters to house students) in Paris, another $1,000,000 to Chicago University for the endowment of its divinity school, and $500,000 toward the fund being raised in the United States for the development of Jewish farm settlements in Russia.

Educational institutions received rich donors from the 1928 Charity Chest. The $10,000,000 residuum of the estate of Charles M. Hall, "father of aluminum," who died in 1914, is to be distributed to higher educational institutions of the Near East and the Orient, his trustees recently announced. Mr. Hall left the decision as to the manner of distribution to the trustees. Selection of the beneficiaries was made after long consultation with educational leaders. Among the institutions to benefit by the gift are the Kobe College Corporation in Japan, the American University of Beirut and the American College for Girls at Constantinople.

GIFT TO HARVARD

Edward E. Harkness of New York gave $2,000,000 to Harvard University to be used for experiment in reorganization of the university. He gave the money to build and equip a group of dormitories, dining halls and common rooms which will be operated as a separate educational and social unit.

A. E. Harkness of New York, a former school-teacher and clergyman who built up a $30,000,000 fortune through public-utility operations, donated $2,000,000 to Yale to be used in the study of child disease, while the late Chauncey Depew bequeathed a like amount to the same university, his alma mater, without restrictions.

Myron Taylor's $1,200,000 gift to education went to Cornell University for a new building to house the law school.

Others who helped to fill America's charity coffers during the year gave their contributions for the benefit of those in actual need. John Markle, retired coal operator, donated $500,000 to the Salvation Army for the erection of a working girls' hotel which will provide comfortable, light living quarters for girls who can afford to pay only a few cents.

GIANT BRIDGES BEING ERECTED

Hudson River Structure to Be World's Greatest

England Recently Opened Large Span Over Tyne

Japan Using Hinges to End Earthquake Menace

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—The world appears to be in an era of bridge building. Innumerable as it may seem in a period when men are spanning not only streams but oceans by flight, greater bridges are being constructed today than ever before in the history of the world. Perhaps the bridge itself might be regarded as no more than the age-old desire of men to span great spaces. Perhaps, fundamentally, there is but little difference in the instinct which has taught men to cross on bridges of steel or stone or air.

Work now is in progress on what will be the greatest bridge ever constructed. Many seasons will pass before the vast structure is complete, but when the work has been finished nothing in the world will compare with it. It is the Hudson River bridge. Its river span, not counting the approaches on the New York and New Jersey shores, will measure 3500 feet, and its supporting towers will lift 850 feet into the air, 80 feet higher than the Washington Monument. Steel ships will sail beneath it while men in vehicles of every sort will pass high above the pageant of river shipping.

HAS LARGE LIFT SPAN

In a totally different setting—almost a rural setting compared with that of the Hudson River bridge—is the bridge recently opened which spans the James River in Virginia at Newport News. There, adjacent to the site of the first English settlement in America, stretches this mighty structure. It is four and a half miles in length and forms an important link in the highway traffic facilities between North and South. This bridge has a tremendous lift span which is hoisted by powerful electrically operated motors to permit tall ships to pass beneath. This structure, but a short distance from Jamestown, cost $3,000,000, or more money than all Virginia has ever spent on a bridge when it first began to ply.

Many other bridges of importance have been constructed or are under construction in the United States, but other countries are not far behind us in modern bridge construction. Not long before his illness set in the King of England opened a bridge across the Tyne extending from Newcastle-on-Tyne to Gateshead. It is reckoned the largest single-span bridge in all Europe, and it raised high enough for the crowded shipping of the Tyne to pass beneath it without a draw or lift.

In Japan a solid rigid structure might well be expected to break free and collapse in the event of earthquake shock, but the hinges of the Japanese bridges permit of a jointed movement so that there may be unworked stress both horizontally and vertically without demolition.

Such bridges are more costly than the ordinary steel bridge. The largest single span is that of the Bixby, 2200 feet—the total length being 300 feet. This bridge required 4000 tons of steel and cost 2,000,000 yen. American engineers assisted in working out this difficult problem. Many of the pre-earthquake bridges were not of steel construction. Of the 583 bridges in Turkey before the earthquake, 40 were shaken down by the shock and 289 subsequently destroyed by fire. Four hundred and twenty bridges, either have been built since the earthquake or are under construction.

The Romans were the first great bridge builders. The first Roman bridge of which there is authentic knowledge was the Pons Sublicus over the Tiber. It was built long before Christ and was said from the engineering aspect, is famous as being the bridge which Horatius defended against an entire army. It was a wooden bridge. The Pons Milvius, built 109 B. C., was the first stone bridge of note at Rome. Almost fabulous as it may seem, visitors to the Eternal City today may see vestiges of this bridge still doing duty as part of the structure in use on the same site.

LONDON BRIDGE FAMOUS

To English-speaking people doubtless the bridge of most historic interest is the London Bridge. Begun in 1170, it required nearly forty years to build. The principal structure was of stone but, as in the case of many medieval bridges, houses both of stone and of timber were erected on the bridge itself. They were chiefly shops, but it is notable that the chapel of St. Thomas of Canterbury was one of the edifices. While the superstructure buildings burned several times and were replaced the fundamental integrity of the span lasted until little more than a century ago. Volumes have been written about bridges. Brooklyn Bridge, the first great suspension bridge; the Eads Bridge at St. Louis, the Niagara suspension bridge and many others with all sorts of draws, lift spans and rollers, the last permitting sections to roll back to open the fairway for ships, go to make up the American list.

SHOT REBOUNDS TO WOUND BOY

Bottle Full of Water Proves to be Nitroglycerin

Rifle Bullet Hurlled Back Into Neck of Youth

Companion and Dog Cut by Glass in Explosion

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 31.—Two local high-school students were seriously wounded and a valuable collie dog was probably fatally injured yesterday when a bottle used as a target and believed to have been filled with nitroglycerine, exploded when struck by a rifle bullet.

The most seriously wounded is Irvine McMannamin, 16 years of age, who was shot through the neck by the same 22-caliber rifle bullet which he had fired at the bottle. County Hospital attendants who dressed the wound before the youth was removed to the home of his mother, Mrs. Chris A. Repp, 1851 Quincy street, reported that the bullet missed the boy's jugular vein by a fraction of an inch. He will recover unless the wound becomes infected, it was said.

McMannamin's companion, Ed Gadd, 16, was injured when a piece of the bottle deeply lacerated his knee. The two youths and their dog had been hunting during the afternoon. Returning home about 3 p.m., they decided to take a shot out through a field to the Gadd ranch. Behind the ranch in a vacant lot and near a house which recently was padlocked by the police, they found a bottle.

The McMannamin youth set up the bottle for a target, and in so doing shook it and noted that it was filled with liquid. He believed it was water. He stepped away about four feet, fired at the bottle "just to see the water fly."

The next instant there was an explosion so terrific that both boys were hurled to the ground, the bullet was hurled back into the neck of the McMannamin youth, and the collie dog, which was about fifteen feet away, was almost killed. The McMannamin youth is the son of Stephen B. McMannamin, a well-known New York City, but resides with his mother.

Youth Admits Robbing Seven Homes in Month

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 31.—The looting of seven homes in and near here during the last thirty days was admitted early today by Jim Brooks, 19-year-old former Philadelphia youth who was arrested here, Chief of Police C. M. Richardson, announced. Brooks was arrested by Motorcycle Officer R. B. Powers when he answered a burglary call from the home of A. L. Pomeroy, 1919 Cedar street. According to the police, Brooks still was in the vicinity of the house, and immediately admitted having entered the domicile by cutting the screen on a rear door.

Questioned later at police headquarters by Chief Richardson and his detectives, Brooks is asserted to have signed a written confession admitting seven thefts in and near this city.

Goode Elected Dairymen's Head

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 31.—Albert S. Goode, general manager of the Kern County Creamery and Farms Company, has been elected president of the State of California Milk Dealers' Association. It was held here today. Rounding out his twenty-eighth year in the dairying industry, the esteem in which the Kern dairymen is held was fittingly shown by his election to the presidency of the association. For nearly thirty years he has been in both the production and marketing fields.

President Goode succeeds Dudley Durman of Los Angeles, who had the position for several years.

There is expectation that the new president's policies will follow closely those of his predecessor as the two have been close friends for a number of years.

WITHDRAWALS ESTIMATED

Unofficial Report of Sun-Maid Resignations Puts Area Involved at 20,000 Acres

FRESNO, Dec. 31.—With the biennial withdrawal period of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers expiring at midnight, approximately 1200 of the association's 10,000 members had filed notice of withdrawal. It was estimated by sources close to the association as the ten-day period closed. The acreage concerned is estimated at from 18,000 to 20,000.

Officials of the association declined to make public any figures on the withdrawals, the only definite statement of the number of growers leaving the association being obtained from the files of the County Recorder's office, where approximately 300 had recorded their withdrawals.

Recorder Farley urged that every grower who withdraws have his withdrawal recorded in order to clear up the title to his farm, against which the Sun-Maid crop contract stands as a lien until so cleared.

Taft Building Figures Exceed Past Year Mark

TAFT, Dec. 31.—Building here for the year 1928 reached a total of $2,211,000, and although the figures showed little activity in the building line for the twelve months, the figures slightly exceeded the total for last year.

The above total does not include building on Heights and Taft View Terraces, where most of the new residences are located, as these two tracts are outside the city limit. A steady growth in residence building has gone on in both localities.

The total for Taft proper includes the new gymnasium located on the Lincoln school grounds and the tennis court which were added. These were built in July, bringing the total of building for that month to $35,515. In October a building permit for $27,385 was taken out to rebuild the Buena Vista Hotel, which burned during the summer, but work on the building has not yet been started.

Man Delays His Extradition to Michigan City

FRESNO, Dec. 31.—Luther Bacon, for whom extradition papers were recently signed by Gov. Young, today instituted proceedings here to obtain his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

He was arrested several days ago on advice from Detroit where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement. The charge against him is one of appropriation to his own use of $1000 given him by a broker to purchase fruit.

Detective Sergeant Edward Kadair of the Detroit police department is here to return him to Detroit, but was halted today by the court proceedings.

In his petition Bacon asserts that he committed no crime and did not flee from Michigan, and was arrested without notice on a warrant signed by Gov. Young.

Hearing on the writ will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Kiwanians Plan Lively Session

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—Planning the biggest Kiwanian affair of 1929, excepting the California-Nevada convention on January 18, members of Bakersfield and Taft Kiwanis clubs will gather in Hotel Padre Wednesday evening for their annual installation of officers.

Ben F. Stinson, prominent local merchant, will be inducted into office as president of the Bakersfield club for 1929, succeeding Atty. Alfred Siemon.

Norman F. Main, young Taft attorney, will be installed as president of the West Side organization.

Roy Bostwick of Fresno, lieutenant-governor-elect of Kiwanis clubs in this district, will be an honor guest at the affair and will preside as installing officer. It was announced here today by R. E. Cady, secretary-treasurer of the local club.

Legality of Bar Act Attacked

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31. (P)—Attacking the constitutionality of the State Bar Act, Douglas T. Winnie, disbarred Fresno attorney, filed a petition in the Supreme Court today for a writ of review.

The court set January 11 as the day for hearing arguments. Winnie's contention is that the Legislature has no right to grant any corporation, such as the State Bar, the right of punishing its members. That power, Winnie contended, lies only with the judiciary.

Winnie was disbarred last September in connection with the asserted altering of an inventory during an estate appraisal.

Canada Officer Kills McGee

WINNIPEG, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—Carl McGee, alias "Young," notorious California gunman, was killed here Sunday night when he tried to shoot his way out of a police trap. He had been sought for three days as the murderer of Digby Poyntz, a local druggist, and attempted hold-up. Detective Sergeant MacIver was wounded by McGee before the gunman was mortally shot by Detective Hamilton.

McGee, who was on parole from San Quentin penitentiary, had lived in Winnipeg about six weeks. Two of his alleged accomplices are now in jail.

Saloon Smasher's Daughter Weds

MARIE SENDS GREETINGS

BUCHAREST, Dec. 31. (P)—Dowager Queen Marie tonight asked the Associated Press to convey her affectionate remembrances and heartiest New Year's greetings to the American people.

For the Fifth consecutive year we say, "Thank you for an increase in our business"

There is no feeling of boastfulness that prompts us to speak of the fact that our business this year has been greater than last year's—and so on for five preceding years. Rather do we feel a great obligation to the people of Los Angeles who have made this possible.

We say thank you to you all and extend to you our sincere good wishes for 1929.

YEAR'S STRIDES IN RADIO GREAT

Wire and Wireless in Record Development

World's Seven Seas Invaded
During Past Months

Wave Allocating One
Outstanding Feat

BY MARTIN CODEL

1928, by the North American Broadcasting Association.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (Exclusive.)—Radio enters the new year with the extension of its use in communications holding uppermost place for the wire and wireless radio telephony has conquered the seven seas and radio has spanned the broad ocean. Both in 1928 will make radio a-bits as carriers of voice and both will be applied to furnish additional service for America's flying ar-morning, a more intimate of radio in the life of the citizen, presents relatively problems and none fraught with the same profound economic,

and diplomatic consequences. Unless television becomes commercially viable, this new medium is the best judgment in the industry warns that it will be the fundamental problem of the future may be said to have been solved with the wave alloca-

STANDING STRIDES

Among all radio developments of 1928 were the broadcast wave allocations, the extension of transoceanic radio telephony, and radiotelephony service and the application of radio in the field of wireless. Further development along the paths described in these efforts will occupy the best of the radio man's command during the coming year. These problems will be less in the popular prints than the radio man's of radio instruction and entertainment. But they are of the utmost importance. The best judgment should be to new designs in radio research, primarily to evaluate more the whole range of wave radio. Nothing radical is presented, unless it is the application of radio programs into the business viable and picked up by a new wave set that also can be used for radio. A practical extension of wireless radio is to take place in Cleveland in 1929, and then the North American public utility group proposes to offer it to all its customers and to furnish the service to the public utility companies.

TRANSOCEANIC RADIO

The wave allocation of last year was significant for its extension to radio telephony to transoceanic message services and to competition with landline telephony. This development was for 1928 by an independent company claiming to have revolutionary patents and by a London press planning to use its own word traffic. Canada plans to use some of its short-wave channels for telephone communications with remote portions of the continent.

Transoceanic radio now connects the United States with the outermost corners of the globe, largely by the extension of the Radio America's circuits to the most remote and the hook-up of the R.C.A. and the transoceanic wireless system of the Radio. In this field a new battle is being fought and Pacific has appeared in the new transoceanic radio and Telephone Company, subsidiary of the Telephone and Telegraph Company, all-American radio network of 1928.

These two systems will compete with each other, but with the aid of the recently authorized Radio America, Cable-Radio Company, which should be well under way before another year ends.
It is expected that one of the other American companies will acquire the Radio Corporation of America is a more solid basis to the British in the competition for the world traffic remains restricted under the present law prohibiting the use of radio services of any kind to foreign countries. The interference to the Hoover administration for an amendment of the Radio Act.

TO RADIO TELEPHONY

Radio telephony across the Atlantic now connects nearly all North American telephone subscribers to London, Czechoslovakia,
Denmark, France, Germany,
Hungary, Italy, Japan, Mexico,
Sweden, Switzerland, and the United States. Radio telephony to the East Indies and Africa has been tried successfully. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, although it has developed a cable for transmission across the ocean, has been unable to use its regular land stations for a relay to transmitting and receiving stations on the Atlantic coast. It is now using long and short wave radio to bridge the water gap.

The radio's chief promise is the use of lightweight transmitting and receiving apparatus for radio and telephony, out of the radio and their installation on ships and most commercial vessels. The Army, Navy and the Air Force, with their free radio stations, have done their part in the development and development of the radio. The radio manufacturers and operators now must provide a more extensive scale.

CONSIDERED

Many lengths have been taken for aircraft radio to increase the world that it is practically impossible to communicate between ground and air. There are enough experiments set aside also radio flying as the radio-navigation system.

American aeronautical industry that of Europe, is far behind in radio work and only radio operators have asked the Radio Commission so many times.

of Turnover Nearly 5,000,000 Shares

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The all-party rode out the year 1928 in the saddle on the stock market today in the same wild fashion that it has galloped through the major portion of the year, making twelve months of speculation.

Nearly fifty issues were rushed to peak prices for the year, the list of gains running from 21 points. The Associated Press group of twenty industrials averaged up 2.30 points, equalling a record at 252.33, established November 30, in contrast with the low of 170.84. Total market aggregated 4,881,400 shares. The volume of business delayed in the market more than half an hour.

Many of the gains were due to the fact that the market was kept too busy during the year to participate in the confidence of the Christmas season, and the heavy year-end demand for the stock market.

Call money held at 12 per cent throughout the day, the highest level of the year and for seven years, but the fact that it has been kept from going higher during the heavy year-end demand for the stock market.

TRADE RESEARCH OFFICIAL SCANS OUTLOOK FOR 1929

Says Year Opens With Remarkable Mixture of Favorable and Unfavorable Factors

Director, New York University Bureau of Business Research

The business situation at the beginning of 1929 presents a remarkable mixture of favorable and unfavorable factors. There is enough maladjustment, particularly in finance, to indicate to an unbiased observer that some important readjustment must occur sooner or later. In spite of certain favorable conditions, some of this readjustment seems likely to come in 1929.

Among the maladjustments, I would mention first the low return on invested capital as compared with the high cost of short-term funds. High-grade bonds yield about 4 1/2 per cent, while money costs around 8 per cent. This condition finds expression in reduced issues of investment securities and a depressed bond market. It is abnormal, and there is bound to be a final readjustment which will be effected, in part at least, through a reduction in the volume of speculation and the prices of common stocks.

A second maladjustment, closely connected with the first, is the disproportionate amount of bank credit that has been drawn directly or indirectly into the stock market. Brokers' loans are decidedly abnormal, as may be seen by comparing them with total loans and discounts or with commercial loans. In my opinion, they must sooner or later be liquidated in large amount with an attendant reduction in stock prices. This process is likely to be at least partly effected in 1929.

There are also some indications that industrial production has reached peak levels, and that it is too large to be sustained if the present level of commodity prices is to continue. The estimated total value of the industrial output has declined a little of late. Industrial production appears to be in excess of primary distribution as measured by railway shipments. Pig iron production has recently become excessive. These conditions indicate the probability of a downward readjustment in production before the first half of 1929 is over.

Profit margins are so narrow in most industries that total profits are dependent on large volume. It follows that either reduced production or lower prices would be likely to cause a disproportionate reduction in earnings.

It may be added to these considerations the probability that the current decline in building activity will make some further progress.

There is little, if any, indication of business proper or in commodity prices. The purchasing power of labor is fairly good. The total farm income this fall has been larger than a year ago. Exports have been very large. Our great industrial enterprises continue a remarkably strong record. Production and mercantile inventories are moderate. The unusual indications of the approach of a business crisis are mostly absent.

EXPECTS LOWER COMMODITIES

Thus no severe recession in business is probable, but only a moderate readjustment. Even in the case of the stock market we may recognize the existence of new standards due to a wider appreciation of the investment merits of stocks and to a more liberal and intelligent management of our great corporations. Investment buying of stocks will tend to stabilize the market. I conclude that, although there may be some seasonal easing in January, money rates will continue high in the early part of the year and until considerably more liquidation has taken place in the stock market and in the stock market. Some drastic corrections in the prices of a good many stocks will have to be made.

SEES CONTRAST IN TRENDS

Compared with past recessions, however, any decline in 1929 is likely to be unusually selective. The backward industries, such as rubber, textiles, shipbuilding, paper, and oil, are likely to improve at the same time that the boom industries, such as automobiles, building, steel and copper, show recession. Particularly, increasing intelligence on the part of investors should result in preventing a prolonged general bear market in the stock market.

It is impossible to anticipate just when these developments will occur or how far they will go. Increasing control over business through trade organizations and mergers, and the unknown position of the farmer in 1929, make this clear. It does seem probable, however, that the new year will show net results in business not greatly different from those of 1928, but that these will be secured with a trend that will be about as much downward as the trend in the last year was upward.

Flight to Continue Over 128-Mile Course

thine over the course of 128.5 miles between San Diego and Metropolitan Airport until it becomes evident that the plane is going to be forced to land for some reason or other. When this appears inevitable the plane will circle in the vicinity of the Metropolitan Airport until actually forced to come down. The entire flight will be officially witnessed and checked by experts of the National Aeronautic Association and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, who will testify not only to the duration of the flight but also to the number of trips over the measured course so that every available record for sustained flight may be set.

DUTIES ASSIGNED

During flight the four officers will be divided into watches. Maj. Spatz and Lieut. Quesada taking the 8 p.m. to midnight trick at the controls while Capt. Baker and Lieut. Halverson will be on the job from midnight until 6 a.m. Sergt. Hooe draws the assignment of watching the mechanism and seeing that all parts are properly lubricated. A slippery "catwalk" eight inches wide enables Hooe to get out to the side engines to make emergency repairs.

The actual operation of refueling with gasoline is done by means of a two and one-half-inch hose thirty feet long which leads from tanks in the refueling plane down to the big funnel in the Question Mark.

PASADENA GAY FOR FETE TODAY

eeding the float, two mounted knights will appear and they will be followed by Sir Lancelot. Two men who were attempting to sell boxes for seats to the throngs were arrested by police. Chief of Police Kelley stated that no boxes will be allowed to be sold due to the danger of injuries in case of a stampede.

Five thousand persons reserved seats in twenty-two temporary grand stands that have been erected along the line of march. Walter Putnam, head of the Pasadena Building Department, and William Zuehlke, building inspector, stated all these stands have been carefully gone over and that there is no chance of a repetition of the grand-stand crash which caused several fatalities during the 1926 tournament parade.

One of the 1928 features promised to be the marching of fifteen bands. The drum corps of the Pasadena American Legion is resplendent in new golden-hued trench helmets.

BAYONETS ON GUARD

Souvenir hunters who attempt to break off garlands from the twenty-six prize-winning floats will be forced to break through a line of bayonets in the hands of National Guardsmen, who will guard the prize floats after they have been drawn up for inspection in front of the new City Hall.

After passing east on Colorado street, the procession will turn north on North Hill avenue and west along East Orange Grove avenue to the disbanding point west of Lake avenue.

Following the parade, Gov. Young, Mayor Ragsdale and other visiting dignitaries will be entertained at luncheon at the establishment of Hal C. Reynolds and John W. Eberle, 225 East Orange Grove avenue. Mrs. Young will be presented with a silver serving tray by the Women's Division of the Tournament of Roses Association, the chairman of which is Mrs. Frederick J. Mills.

Shortly before 10 a.m., the district in which the parade is forming, bounded by the Arroyo Seco on the west, Marengo avenue on the east, Colorado street on the north, and California street on the south, will be closed to traffic. After that time, no motorists will be allowed to enter Pasadena from the west over the Colorado-street bridge, and Chief Kelley emphasized this morning the urgency of his request that visitors from Glendale and Hollywood come via Chevy Chase Boulevard and by the new routes recently opened into the city north of Colorado street.

Those who attend the football game are requested to park their cars north of Colorado street and if possible, to be in their seats at the Rose Bowl by 1:30 p.m. Persons planning to return to Los Angeles and southern communities after the parade will have less difficulty, according to Chief Kelley, if they park south of Colorado street. Pasadena's principal business thoroughfare.

Sky Writing Will be Done Differently

Special stationery with an embossed title of their air experiment and five engraved gold fountain pens were added to the equipment of the Question Mark flyers this afternoon. The stationery and pens were the gift of Harris M. Hanshue, president of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation.

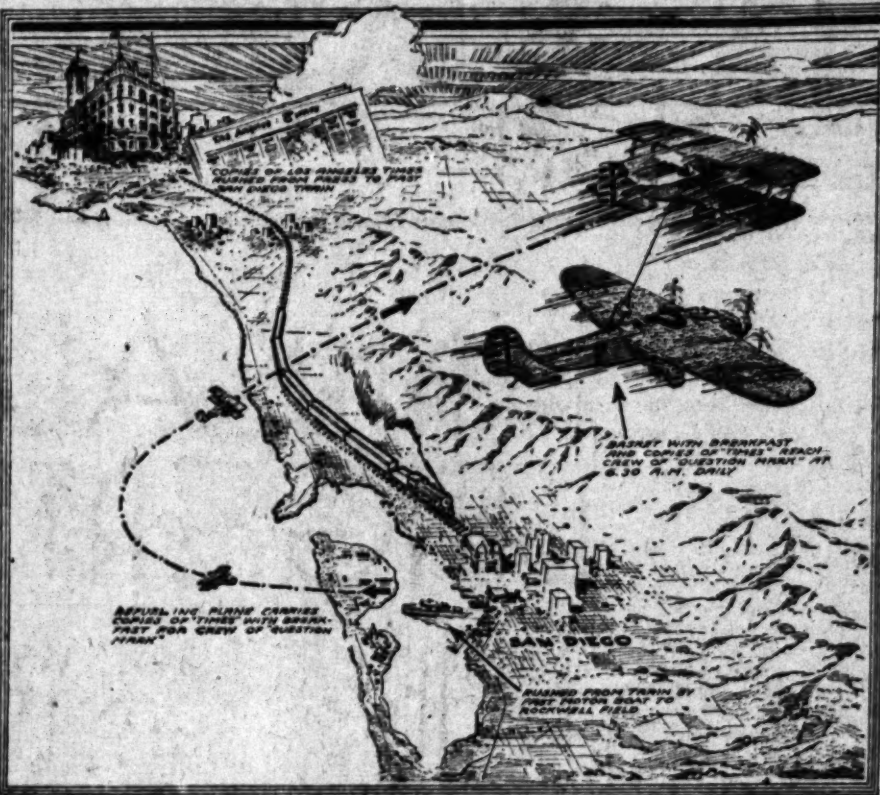

Mr. Hanshue believed the stationery will lend an added novelty to the experience of the five flyers, who may want to address letters to friends and relatives while on their endurance flight, an extra bottle of ink also was presented so the flyers might "fuel up" their pens.

Embossed on the stationery are the words:

"U. S. Air Service Mission. Aboard the Question Mark."

"TIMES" GOING SKY-HIGH

Every Morning Crew of Army's Test Plane Will Get Its Paper 3000 Feet in Air

The Los Angeles Times with breakfast coffee 3000 feet in the air! Every morning as the United States Army air service Fokker plane "Question Mark" dunes out another twenty-four hours in its attempt to set new world's records for continuous flight, Maj. Carl Spatz, Capt. Ira Baker, Lieut. H. A. Halverson, Lieut. Elwood Quesada and Sergt. Roy Hooe, crew of the "Question Mark," will turn the pages of The Los Angeles Times for the latest news of Southern California, the nation and the world. Their only contact with the doings of the globe beneath them will be when The Times greets them every morning with their breakfast.

This is the first time that a newspaper edition of The Times will be rushed specially to San Diego, placed on a speedboat which will carry them to Rockwell Field on North Island, and there they will be delivered to Capt. H. C. Emdorf, airfield officer at the field. The paper will be placed in the bundle which contains the hot breakfast, and placed in Refueling Plane No. 1 with Capt. Ross Hoyt at the controls. The plane then will take off and after establishing contact with the "Question Mark" 3000 feet in the air over San Diego, the package containing the food, both physical and mental, will be lowered by Lieuts. I. A. Woodring and A. C. Strickland, to the waiting arms of Maj. Spatz in the Question Mark.

ACTION ON SITE URGED BY YOUNG

Young denied that the State is dipping into its surplus, but on the other hand will have a large surplus at the end of the biennium.

The purpose of his talk was to outline to his audience the organization and reorganization of the State governmental machinery and the simplification that has been brought about through departmentalization. He listed the various departments, told of their work, and touched upon some of the things hoped to be done by them in the future.

In an introductory talk, President Eastman of the Chamber of Commerce noted some of the things Southern California is hoping for from the next Legislature, such as the transfer of the Teachers' College to the U.C.L.A. campus, appropriation for agricultural extension work, amendment to the criminal code and other things. This part of the State hopes for and will help in legislation to aid the grape growers, he said.

Lieut. Gov. Carnahan was present and was cordially greeted when introduced by President Eastman.

CALLIE GRIMES CHARGE DENIED

Police Say Frame-up Not Substantiated

Commission Given Report Investigation

Marco and Others M Rebuttal Affidavits

The statement of Mrs. Grimes that the arrest of her husband, Councilman Jacobson, on August 5, 1927, on a morals charge was framed by Albert Marco and others, has been denied by the police department, according to a report made to the Police Commission yesterday.

The investigation, requested by the Police Commission following the grand jury charge against the late Councilman Jacobson, was made by Capt. "Frank" Updegraff, who presented affidavits from Marco and others, including Chief Clerk Charles Crawford, F. Cox, fully denying the charges made by Mrs. Grimes in her affidavit.

The officers report that the charges were met with refusal that she stated she had nothing to do with the trial and the charges they were continuing the investigation.

The report consists of a summary of the results of the investigation by Deputy Chief Lyons, who was handed in to the commission by Chief Davis along with copies of the affidavits, reports, transcripts of the trial and other matter pertaining to the case.

REPORT SUMMARY The summary up of Capt. Lyons in part:

"The reports of Capt. Lyons and Slater, above referred to, contain certain discrepancies in the reports of the trial and the various opposing charges."

"(1) As to the conflicting affidavits in the multiple affidavits of Mrs. Callie Grimes."

"(2) As to certain irregularities in the procedure connected with the original arrest of Councilman Jacobson and Mrs. Callie Grimes, August 5, 1927, at 437 1/2 Beale at the home of Mrs. Grimes."

BOOKING DELAY "That Councilman Jacobson not booked until several hours after his arrest is explained by the fact that at his special request and solicitation was taken to the home of a certain Police Officer, Councilman Webster, which privilege was granted him as a matter of public courtesy. There does appear to be any other justification for this delay from the ordinary procedure of police practice."

"I am of the opinion that the arrest is full, fair, impartial, and that the delay is explained by the fact that at his special request and solicitation was taken to the home of a certain Police Officer, Councilman Webster, which privilege was granted him as a matter of public courtesy. There does appear to be any other justification for this delay from the ordinary procedure of police practice."

Investigation

Mayor and Others Make
Rebuttal Affidavits

The statement of Mrs. Callie Grimes that the arrest of herself and husband Jacobson on August 1, 1927, on a morals charge, was framed by Albert Marco with the assistance of members of the police department, is not sustained by the investigation, according to a report made to the Police Commission.

The investigation, requested by the Police Commission following the affidavits of Mrs. Grimes and the grand jury charging a "frame-up," was made by Captains of Detectives Slaughter and Slater, who presented affidavits from Alameda, Charles Crawford and P. O. O'Neil, flatly denying in detail the charges made by Mrs. Grimes.

The report consists of a summing up of the results of the investigation by Deputy Chief Lyons and the grand jury, along with copies of the affidavits, reports, letters, and other matter pertaining to the case.

REPORT SUMMARY
The summing up of Capt. Lyons is as follows:
The reports of Capt. Slaughter and Slater, above referred to, point out certain discrepancies.
As to the contradictory testimony of the various opposing witnesses.

As to certain irregularities in the procedure connected with the arrest of Councilman Jacobson and Mrs. Callie Grimes on August 1, 1927, at 472 Beagle street, the home of Mrs. Grimes.

BOOKING DELAY
Councilman Jacobson was not booked until several hours had elapsed after his arrest is explained by the fact that at his special request and solicitation, he was taken to the home of a certain official Police Commissioner.

As to the material averments in the affidavits of Mrs. Callie Grimes under date of November 6, 1928.
P. P. LYONS, deputy chief.

LAST HOURS OF YEAR
BRING HIM MUCH WOE

The closing hours of the old year were filled with trials and tribulations for George Sutton, 3000 Piedmont avenue, who was in jail, accused of assault on his wife, Mrs. Edna Sutton. Sutton was in the Superior Court yesterday for a divorce. "The reason I am alive to ask for a divorce is because I always was able to support my husband," Mrs. Sutton said, adding that he chased her from their home on Christmas Eve with a butcher knife. Her complaint was filed here for the year.

WASSERS SPOUSE RETIRES TOO EARLY

It has remained for Vincent V. Wassers to register the unusual complaint to his petition for divorce against Mrs. Helen Veitch. He complains that she goes to bed too early for his comfort, of their marriage. The petition was filed yesterday in the Superior Court. Veitch refused to sign the divorce papers and in the evening and in the morning at 8 o'clock. He said that she made him quit his job by playing the phonograph and would not disturb her a honey moon trip by airplane to England and return.

Film Actress Cited Over
Flashlight "Peeking" in Hollywood Court

A warrant for the arrest of Alma Rubens, film actress, on charges of disturbing the peace in the neighborhood of her home at 1473 1-2 North Havenhurst Drive, was issued yesterday by Municipal Judge Bullock at the request of Deputy City Prosecutor Chotiner.

The complaint was sworn out by Mrs. Elizabeth Uhl, owner of the court-apartment where Miss Rubens resides, and listed as witnesses are Mr. and Mrs. Fins Fox, 1473 North Havenhurst Drive; Rita Carre, film actress and her husband, Leroy Mason, 1473 3-4 North Havenhurst Drive.
In her statement to Chotiner, Mrs. Uhl declared that Miss Rubens has several times disturbed the peace of her tenants in the court by peering into their homes at night with a flashlight and by turning off all lights in the court at the main switch. On the night of December 29, last, the film actress staged a "wild party" in her apartment and threatened to "get" Mrs. Uhl, she declared. She frequently used profane language in the presence of others and refused to move when requested to do so, Mrs. Uhl charges.

Student Faces Traffic Charge in Auto Crash

A complaint charging Robert A. Richard, University of California, (Berkeley) student, who gave his address as 3200 Piedmont avenue, with crashing into a car in which Miss Fricke, daughter of Superior Judge Fricke, was riding, was issued yesterday by Deputy City Prosecutor Chotiner.
Richard's car, traveling at a high rate of speed, hit one driven by W. A. Ring of Fontana, in which Miss Fricke was a passenger, at Washington Boulevard and Bronson avenue as the Ring machine was slowing to make the turn toward Judge Fricke's home at 1833 South Bronson avenue, according to witnesses. Judge Fricke said later that Richard admitted he had been "traveling very fast." The Ring automobile was knocked into a lamp post and wrecked, but neither Ring nor Miss Fricke was seriously injured, according to Chotiner.
Richard is slated to appear in Traffic Court on the reckless-driving charge on the 7th inst.

Flight Lieutenant Bentley and bride have just returned to Cape Town, South Africa, after making a honeymoon trip by airplane to England and return.

A YEAR HAS PASSED

On December 30, 1927, an individual describing himself as Prof. Pav, of Paris, astrologist and seer, predicted that during 1928, probably in the summer, an explosion would obliterate the constellation Leo and that a gigantic block of the debris, accompanied by smaller meteorites, would strike and devastate the earth. The accident, Prof. Pav said, would not extinguish life or even man; a few individuals would remain to build up a new and better civilization. Prof. Pav seems to have been mistaken. The year just passed has been most interesting and even important happenings, but not that one; and Prof. Pav will have to go down in history as another prophet without honor in his own or any other country.

There was, in fact, nothing very meteoric about the year 1928 if one excepts the political career of John J. Raskob. For the most part there was a working out of tendencies which had long been manifest. This is true even of the nomination and election of Herbert Hoover to President; Hoover had been associated in the public mind with the Presidency for years, and it is now plain to be seen that his accession was not only logical but almost inevitable. Nevertheless, Hoover's election will probably prove to have been, from the standpoint not only of the United States, but of the world, the most important happening of the year.

It is Hoover's good fortune to come into power at a time when the current of the world seems definitely set toward peace. The year just passed was, for the most part, a peaceful year; only in China was there fighting of much moment, and that torn and turbulent country made definite strides toward stability, with no present signs of further disturbance. There remained as the year closed only a revolt in Afghanistan and a not wholly settled dispute in South America to indicate that Mars has not yet been chained. The Afghan difficulty may be pregnant with serious results, to be sure, but it is now merely one of those things which bear watching.

The stage, then, is set for constructive achievement of the kind for which Hoover has proved himself best fitted, and world public opinion is in his favor. He should achieve great things.

Chains for Mars have been forged not only in the Kellogg-Briand multilateral treaty outlawing war, which still awaits full acceptance, but in eleven revised arbitration pacts which have been signed by the United States, with twenty more under negotiation, and in seven new conciliation treaties, in addition to eleven previously in force. Fourteen conciliation treaties are being negotiated. In all of these treaties there is a significant omission: the reservation of questions of "national honor" no longer appears. There was during the year a failure to extend the naval limitations treaties, but a groundswell was laid upon which 1929 may succeed in building.

The business world made definite progress. The moderate recession of 1927 continued during most of the year, but there began in September a definite upward trend which still continues. It was rather more than reflected in the stock market, where a boom of threatening proportions began to develop shortly after election, but seems now to have been checked without disastrous consequences though with much loss to many individuals. Automobile production was particularly active, with a new record set during the year. There were several mergers of which the Chrysler Dodge, Studebaker-Pierce, Auburn-Lycoming and Hupp-Chandler were the most notable. Agriculture, in the opinion of Secretary Jardine, reached a more favorable position than in any year since 1920; gross income in dollars was slightly less than in 1926, but the purchasing power was higher; there was a bumper crop. There was during the year a failure to extend the naval limitations treaties, but a groundswell was laid upon which 1929 may succeed in building.

In aeronautics there were many interesting developments. There were non-stop flights across the Atlantic in both directions, and a new non-stop record was set by the Italy-Brazil flyers who made 4417 miles. There were new flights across the North Pole, and the aerial conquest of the South Polar regions was begun by two explorers, Commander Byrd and Capt. Wilkins. The Noble Arctic expedition by dirigible was wrecked, and one of the world's most intrepid men, Capt. Roald Amundsen, lost his life in an attempt to rescue its members. The Pacific was spanned for the first time in the California-Australia flight of 7387 miles. New cross-ocean records were set in both directions. The commercial use of airplanes increased by leaps and bounds. Another Zepp crossed the Atlantic and returned safely.

In radio, the long-awaited trimming down of broadcast stations was put into effect in November, and many new channels were made available for commercial uses. There was an enormous increase in the number of receiving sets. From a California viewpoint, one of the most important happenings was the enactment of the Colorado River control bill, a permissive measure which is hoped will result in the building of a dam in Black Canyon to stop the flood menace to the Imperial Valley and make available an enormous supply of domestic and irrigation water, together with 500,000 horse power or more of electric energy. Locally, the completion, dedication and occupation of the fine new City Hall was an occasion for congratulations. So was the letting of the contract for the San Gabriel Dam.

Southern California was visited during the year by a great tragedy, the collapse of the St. Francis Dam and consequent flooding of the Santa Clara Valley, with the loss of 450 lives and damage of $9,000,000. Swift rehabilitation and restoration work undertaken at the expense of the city of Los Angeles has most effectively placed the physical traces of this catastrophe, but it will live long in memory.

With the example of Prof. Pav before it, The Times is chary of too definite prophecy for 1929. In general it may be said that the year gives every promise of being a prosperous one, especially in Southern California. In this region it may safely be said that most of the days of 1929 will be sunny! A happy New Year to all!

LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

OUR New Year's resolution: We shall strive earnestly to be more frivolous.

Our sincere conviction is that the great need of the world is more healthful frivolity—frivolity like that of Gilbert and Sullivan, Arthur Guitman, Oliver Herford, and the rest of the frivolous set.

which has made "Alice in Wonderland" immortal. Think how short, in all these years, the list of truly delightful frivolous is! How many puritans, potentates, pillars of society and powers of industry the world profitably could trade for one more Lewis Carroll, W. S. Gilbert—or even G. B. S. at his best!

But alas! for one naturally dignified, conventional and solemn, such a resolution points a difficult road. We feel about Carroll and Gilbert as Hood felt about Shakespeares. "I could write like Shakespeares if I had a mind to," said Tom, "but I haven't got the mind."

To show the world's great need for A-I frivolity, just reflect on how many years millions have sung and read W. S. Gilbert and will be doing so when even the other Gilbert boy, John, is forgotten!

To Banish Idleness: Lee: "Employment in Italy increases; Birth Rate High," says a Times headline. Boy, there's the answer to unemployment. Get a baby in the house and everybody's got a steady job.—R. N.

The New Statuary: To mighty killers of the past, Monarchs and soldiers with blood-lust, imposing statues of your kind—Equation statues, spurring lust, But this is the modern day, When to our killers we've added, Our honor, what more fitting, Than show each in an automobile! TENNYSON MABIE.

License Revoked: A Hollywood man persistently went duck hunting every week-end, but brought home only hard-luck stories. Then one day his wife gave his car

NEW YEAR'S: Nothing but a shroud and a memoir is left of yesterday. Today is a new day, and no time for your backbone to lean over on your ribs and moan. A heaving chest, whether from love or running, insures deep breathing—and health.

If you fade out of the picture before you are thrown out, you will never have any of the ambitious nitching that wagons to you. Nature and Delly have little use for quitters.

Numberless songs are yet to be sung, new stanzas to be indited, new dramas to be wrought, new goods to be imported, new land to be subdivided, new inventions to be conceived, new rays to be discovered, new sermons and sermons to be developed, new worlds to be conquered, new editions to be issued, new stars to be tabulated, new heroisms to be enacted.

The past may not be retrieved; the future is open to employment. The next twelve months are plastic. The New Year is youth; the old year is invitation; the old year is a scrap book. The New Year is capitalism; the old year is a bromide.

"Time and tide wait for no man." The place where you sink will be marked by an evanescent bubble as your tombstone. Even Emerson is aged and Napoleon is shriveled; Shakespeares no longer fill the gallery, nor Socrates "deludes" the youth. The furniture of your father is an heirloom. The people of fiction are more fleeting than those of life. Posthumous glory is always hoary. The Madonna of Raphael was painted on a banner for the procession of an hour. Service is the only security for remembrance. Who saves his stuff loses it. Every writer must produce vast amounts to be blown away as chaff. Who strives to write an immortal ode scribbles for the waste basket. Service is an eternal.

Opportunity has no tail. You have to catch it as it comes. Even if your Pegaseus eluded your lasso, other steeds and finer bred than any that have kicked up their heels and whisked their tails over the hill are bearing and rearing down upon you.

The past may have been a hoosegow; but the future may be a portal. No man save yourself only may set your limits. Your dreams are your only confinement. The old may be a sad "Farewell!" But the new may be "Good Morning!" The New Year is but the beginning of beginnings. It is the supreme hope of hopes. This year that is bigger and better than any year that has trailed off into the eternal limbo.

Not much time need be consumed in becoming illustrious. You may fly across the ocean between two suns and be benumbed the remainder of your days. Presidents may sit at your feet and kings may doff their crowns. You may just go about doing good and all the world will light up the trees of night with the lamps of morning in your honor.

Every dog has his day, and one of the turns of the sun this year may be your day!

JUST CAREFUL: Even a Scotchman should know that economy doesn't mean privation.

the once over before he had time to clean it up, and came in to him bearing sundry corks and empty bottles. "Here's some ammunition you left in the car," she said sweetly. "You won't need it any more because the season's closed."

Still Young—But Growing Fast: A man who thought he could get a living from an acre of them tells us that avocados are like avocations—all right if you've got a steady income from something else.

Exceptionally Close: Lee: Noticed this proud boast on the fence around the Fox lot: "In Old Arizona, filmed in Zion Park, Utah." Wait. What's a State or two, to men who are such wonders they can film the Sahara in Hollywood?

Another Good Year Gone—No, Hunk! I left him when I said the last good-bye. Now I shall I waste a tear on vain regret. For I have I may remember, may forget.

And it impatiently I turned away. It was to greet the new love, come today. Holding illimitable mystery. The old love's dead—a new one beckons me! MONROE VILLA.

That signature looks masculine, but we suspect the poem comes from a Monroe Villains. It sounds feminine.

Numbered and Unnumbered: Miracles still happen. Many a girl has sat in on thirty joyous New Year's parties when she is only 29. And she didn't begin till she was 8 or so, either.

How Women May Be Different: A grouchy critic says women have reached the point at which there is nothing more they can leave off. Many a dad wishes they'd leave off running bills.

While Making Resolutions: Christmas comes but once a year, but a lot of the Christmas bills keep coming the first of every month.

One More Yawp: A family man tells us the modern household is not governed by the law of supply and demand, but by the law of demand and, somehow, supply.

California and Golden Tornado Supporters Both Confident of Victory; Capacity Crowd of 70,000 Fans Expected to See Battle

The Golden Tornado and the Golden Bear. Pride of the once Solid South and hope of the Far West. Football teams from the University of Georgia Tech and the University of California. Both unbeaten in college competition.

They meet today to battle for intercollegiate gridiron supremacy before the biggest crowd that ever saw a New Year's Day football game in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. Georgia Tech is a slight favorite, but for no very good reason.

They clash—Alabama teams that Wallace Wade brought to the Coast, neither of which was beaten—have established their team as 10-to-8 favorites.

Both teams are primed for a terrific fight, and before a colorful crowd of nearly 70,000 persons the boys wearing the White and Gold of Georgia Tech and those clothed in the Blue and Gold of California will write football history in large letters.

Stanford and Pittsburg failed to attract a capacity throng to the Bowl last year—the first time the new concrete addition at the south end of the stadium which added 20,000 more seats had been used—but this will not be the case today.

Practically all of the 33 seats are gone, and the only pasteboards left in the hands of the management last night were a few 3 ones back of the goal posts.

Unless it rains there are bound to go like the proverbial hot cakes before game time.

There hasn't been a game in years that created so much discussion over the probable winner.

Georgia Tech supporters who assert the Golden Tornado eleven is the best ever turned out in the South—superior even to the two

RESERVE STRENGTH OF TECH MAY BE DECIDING FACTOR IN GRID GAME TODAY, SAYS WADE

BY WALLACE WADE
Alabama Football Coach

Results have shown that any kind of a forecast as to the outcome of a football game is worth very little. Particularly in this true in the case of two teams meeting under the conditions of a post-season game, where the teams have finished their regular season approximately a month ago and have played their schedules in different sections of the country against entirely different opposition. Therefore, I would not attempt to make any kind of a prediction as to the outcome of the game, or any comparison between the teams.

As one who has observed the Georgia Tech team during the past season, however, I can say that California is going to meet a team that has shown itself to be a very strong organization. The team's greatest assets seem to be a powerful line that is effective both on offense and defense; big, fast, hard-running backs, a defense against running plays, punts and passes. In some games Tech's punting and passing have been exceptionally good; in others only fair. The spirit and poise of the team have been excellent, and I doubt if many football fans realize the important part that poise plays a big part in the success of a football team.

HAS CAPABLE RESERVES

The team has also been fortunate in having a large number of capable reserves. During the regular season Georgia Tech was one of the best-conditioned teams that I have ever known anything about. It appears that the greatest weakness of the team has been a tendency to fumble. Most of the scoring against Tech this season has been made possible by fumbles.

Strong football teams have been traditional with Georgia Tech for a great many years. Each year Tech plays a hard schedule, usually with six or seven Southern Conference opponents, and one or two intercollegiate games. During the last few years Tech has made a great record against such teams as Notre Dame, Pennsylvania, Georgetown, Pittsburgh and Penn State, as well as against southern opponents. You may be certain that Georgia Tech has known and has played good football for many years in spite of the fact that Pacific Coast fans may not have read as much about the Golden Tornado as they have

VISTA DEL ARROYO HOTEL, PASADENA, Dec. 31.—It's New Year's Eve again, but who cares? The important thing seems to be that tomorrow is the day of the California-Georgia Tech football game. The calendar is entirely overshadowed by the line-up and summary.

It is rumored that $1,000,000 worth of New Year's Eve parties will take part in the great Tournament of Roses parade, but that too is relatively unimportant to the 70,000 people who will go from the parade to the Rose Bowl. In short words, there is nothing out here of interest but the football game.

As is usual, just before the game, the wagering has taken a decided spurt, though California money is not as loose as it promised to be. The betting at this writing is 10

It has been the quietest of years for many years to "do as the Romans do when in Rome," but strangely enough on such a day as this, the Atlanta delegation, which has been in the city since the middle of the week, has been following the Tornado on every step for fifteen years. On the other hand, the Tornado has been the center of the city's attention for many years.

It is a very fortunate thing that Georgia Tech football has not been won by ballot, for if it had, the result would have been a foregone conclusion. The Tornado has been the center of the city's attention for many years.

TOUGH ON FAVORITES

THE underdogs almost invariably have faced the best in previous New Year's football games. This may be a comforting thought to the Bears as they enter the battle today against the Golden Tornado which blew everything out of its path during the past season. Of course, the Bears don't need any sympathy. They can stand on their own legs. But scores don't lie, and they show the favorites at an interesting disadvantage in previous New Year classics.

Go back over the trail to the day the Tournament of Roses Association substituted football for chariot races. Brown, with Fritz Follard, an all-American, was favored over Washington State. The northwestern team won, 14 to 0. Penn was too good for Oregon the next year, the critics said, but Oregon won, 14 to 0.

Throw out the service games and come down to the Harvard-Oregon battle of 1920. A team of Harvard giants, big prep-school favorites, barely nosed out the Webfooters, 7 to 6. Stanford displayed its caliber by beating Army—one of the East's best—at New York, 28 to 0. Stanford was defeated by Southern California, 10 to 0, in their annual game in this city.

Generally speaking, the west coast experts rate both Stanford and Southern California ahead of California in spite of those three games, but you can't wipe out a record book and the fact remains that as a team California is a real unit without a single outstanding star except Benny Lom.

Much has been written about the Grid offensive ability of Georgia Tech's backs—Durrant, Lumpkin, Thompson and Mitchell. But I defy anyone to prove that they are as good or better than were Don Williams, Russ Saunders, Lloyd Thomas and Harry Edelson of the Tornado. And the Bears kept these boys from getting closer than the 20-yard line in their 0-0 game at Berkeley.

Considerable has been said about the Georgia Tech line. It is a good one, but I don't believe anyone can establish that Georgia Tech—or any team in the country for that matter—had a line during the past season to compare with that of Stanford.

Yet in spite of this formidable forward wall—this mighty offensive power—the Bear line yielded both touchdowns in the "big game" at Berkeley. The other Card touch-down came through the air. And the Bears matched these two scores with a single kick in the year.

BEARS BEST ON DEFENSE
Georgia Tech's goal line was crossed six times by college opposition during the regular season; California's twice in collegiate competition.

And the Bears had tougher opposition to encounter. I don't believe there is any question about that.

Georgia Tech can show nothing on its schedule to match six tough games on succeeding Saturdays as St. Mary's, Washington State, California, Stanford, Oregon and Washington.

The Golden Tornado, in winning nine games, rolled up 213 points on its foes to California's 134 in nine games apiece. Tech had lost Stanford and Southern California on its schedule.

Wallace Wade is quoted as saying that the Georgia Tech team is the best in the West, a team that beat Washington, 20 to 19, three years ago.

That doesn't prove anything because the 1926 California team was a better unit by far than was Washington. Washington was a team only while Georgia Tech was a team.

It will be in the best shape of the season when he faces Georgia Tech today. He is the best punter on the Coast, and it was his wonderful kicking that played a big part in the Bears' stand against the Trojans.

He wasn't right when California played Stanford last year. He was injured in the Oregon game, but he is okay now and 40 to 45 yard boots from his toe should be an unexpected occurrence today.

The Bears are going into the game today in much the same manner as the Bears engaged Ohio State last year.

They are the underdogs. Nothing much was expected of the California offense against the Buckeyes. Breakeridge was the star of the game, but he was injured and the Bears' defense was the best in the West.

Back of the line Coach Price has Cockburn, Newman, Garrity, Schilling, Breakeridge to throw in if the going gets rough. Price may start Breakeridge at quarter if he adheres to previous plans.

And Coach Bill Alexander may keep Quarterback Durrant on the bench in favor of Schilling, and Durrant may start in place of Stumpy Thompson, one of Tech's greatest stars.

Tech's backfield stars are rated superior to the California backs, but the game will have to prove the point, plus the fact that Tech can gain heavily through the line and in turn stop Lom's end running.

Schmidt's plunging and the forward pass tricks the Bears are likely to unfurl.

Tech should have the edge in the center of the line with the "Petal" Fund, the all-American hero, operating from his point of vantage there. He outweighs Roy Schilling, Breakeridge to throw in if the going gets rough. Price may start Breakeridge at quarter if he adheres to previous plans.

NATIONAL GRID TITLE AT STAKE IN TODAY'S GAME

There is something appealing about the boys from below the Mason-Dixon Line. All the world loves a fighter, and the southerners have proved that they don't have to take a back seat to anybody when it comes to battling. Not that our own boys can't put up a pretty good argument themselves, but Alabama was twice the underdog here, and somehow the fight of the underdog is always a bit more magnificent, a bit more appealing than the battle put up by the favored team.

Today finds Georgia Tech the underdog with the general public. Tech, however, are confident that the team will win. In fact, the confidence expressed by southern rooters far exceeds anything displayed when Alabama met Washington and Stanford. In those two games, the southerners were a bit wary; they felt that their team was good, but they were sure to lose.

Not knowing the strength of Coast football. Now, having studied Washington and Stanford, the southerners are more confident of their own strength. They regard Tech as a better team than either of the Alabama eleven and in this they are supported by the players. Wade, who was on the Crimson Tide team, But—and here's a point well worth remembering—Tech may not fight as Alabama does. Alabama players are better fighters than Tech athletes. But Alabama twice attained the heights of the Crimson Tide, and Tech may fight just as hard, but whether Alabama's team can reach the heights that characterized Alabama's play is problematical. Those things just naturally don't happen every time a team goes into battle.

WE STILL STICK TO OUR PREDICTION
Sunday that the breaks of the game will decide the contest. There is virtually nothing to choose between the rivals. Western fans favor California largely because this has been a banner year for western football. It is logical to string a winner in the west. But—and this is another vital point—southern football is not eastern football. Many people are overlooking this.

A half-hour's chat with Zipp Newman, Morgan Blake and other California players leaves you with the conviction that Tech is the greatest team ever molded and trained in California. Tech is a team that has been built by the powers of the Golden Bears. Tech is a team that has been built by the powers of the Golden Bears.

BALLOON ORDINANCE HEARING SCHEDULED

A public hearing on the proposed ordinance to prohibit the flying of advertising balloons within the city will be held next Monday by the Finance Committee of the Council. Chairman Alber of the committee is sponsoring the ordinance because of his belief, he said, that such balloons constitute a menace to aerial navigation, and because they would be an unsightly spectacle if their use became more common than at present.

It gives us much pleasure to wish you the greatest and happiest New Year of all time. May your days be filled with joy and all your dreams become realities.

Santa Ynez Fight Develops Immense Deposits

County May Crush Rock for San Gabriel Dam

New Evidence Arranged for War on Bay Project

Probability that Los Angeles county will go in for the manufacture of cement on its own account developed yesterday when engineers prepared to make their report tomorrow on the controversy over the proposed rock-crushing plant in Santa Ynez Canyon. The engineers are expected to reveal knowledge of several huge limestone deposits near the San Gabriel Dam region as a counter-move against the proposed erection of the Santa Ynez Canyon enterprises.

Promoters of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, who have attempted to establish an industrial part of a cement plant in the Santa Ynez Canyon over scores of protests from property owners, have advanced the idea of "cheap cement" as an argument in favor of their project. Backers of the idea say the establishment of their project would make available a huge quantity of cement which would save the county $700,000 in the erection of San Gabriel Dam.

OTHER PLACES
Protestants, besides asserting that the enterprise would destroy millions of dollars' worth of property for residential purposes, declared the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company could not produce cement cheaper than other private companies. Their investigations went further in refuting the claims of the company and revealed to county engineers that if "cheap cement" is desired it can be found in other sections remote from residential districts.

On investigation the county engineers are declared to have discovered two rich deposits accessible to the San Gabriel Dam region. The exact locations are being guarded, it is asserted, until a more extensive investigation is made.

A triple hearing on the protests of property owners from the Beverly Hills, Santa Monica, Pacific Palisades and Topanga Canyon districts is scheduled tomorrow before the Board of Supervisors, the City Planning Committee and the Public Works Committee of the Los Angeles City Council.

MANY REASONS
Representatives of various organizations in the districts will be on hand to file a score of reasons against the establishment of a quarry, rock-crushing plant and a pipe line to Santa Monica Bay. Attorney Thorwald Siegfried, a leader in the fight, will bring before the committee copies of the law pertaining to the jurisdiction of the city and county over the shoreline and tidewater regions.

The War Department is expected to hold in abeyance any action to ward the application of the company to extend a pipe line to barges in Santa Monica Bay until the state, county and city governments have determined their authority over the affected area.

A meeting of the City Planning Committee was scheduled yesterday but it was postponed until tomorrow. At a meeting of the Topanga Canyon Development Association yesterday resolutions condemning the cement project were adopted. The resolutions declared the project would affect the value of more than 1000 homes in the Topanga Canyon district.

FIRE PERILS FORESTS IN SAN GABRIEL

Strong South Wind Fans Blaze Discovered North of Colbrook Camp

A brush fire which gave promise of developing into a serious forest fire because of a strong south wind, broke out yesterday in the vicinity of the north forks of Soldier Creek near Little Conega Meadows, two miles above Colbrook Camp, according to a report from Spence D. Turner, fire warden.

The district is heavily timbered and fears were expressed for the safety of forests, numbered among the largest and most scenic in the state.

The fire was first seen by Rangers Klein and Kidd, attached to the Crystal Lake service, who reported that eighteen men and fifteen Boy Scouts went to fight the flames. Sixty-two men from County Road Camp No. 6 also were rushed to the scene of the blaze.

Chief Ranger Murphy of the Pasadena office of the Federal Forest Service left during the afternoon to take charge of the fire-fighting crew. Two other crew leaders were sent to the scene of the fire by Warden Turner.

Permit May End Airport Tangle

In the event that satisfactory arrangements cannot be made with the Metropolitan Airport at Van Nuys, concerning the deeding of the runways at the airport to the city, it was indicated at yesterday's meeting of the Finance Committee of the City Council that the committee will recommend merely that the airport be permitted to operate under a special zoning permit.

Deputy City Attorney Patten told the Finance Committee that the owners of the airport have indicated that they will be willing to deed the runways to the city only in the event that the city is willing to bear the entire expense of their construction. Councilman Albor and Randall of the committee expressed themselves as opposed to any such arrangement.

BUILDING TOTAL MOUNTS HIGH

Construction Permits of Year Pass $100,000,000 due to Last-Minute Rush

Receiving an eleventh-hour impetus from permits issued for new Loyola University buildings, Los Angeles city building permit valuations passed the $100,000,000 mark yesterday, according to City Building Superintendent Backus.

December permits reached a valuation of $10,810,046, boosting the year's total to $101,633,493. December, 1927, registered $6,630,403, and the 1927 valuation was $123,027,139.

The edge held by 1927 over 1928 is due largely to a total of $10,000,000 issued for county buildings.

TIA JUANA PLANE LINE ANNOUNCED

Western Air Express Also to Start Service Over Boulder Dam Territory

Two new commercial air travel services of particular interest to Southern California were announced yesterday by officials of Western Air Express.

One is to Tia Juana and the other covers the whole Boulder dam territory. Beginning next Saturday, trimotored, twelve-passenger monoplanes, recently purchased from the Fokker Aircraft Corporation of America, will make a round trip on each Saturday and Sunday between Van Nuys, Los Angeles, and Tia Juana.

The planes will leave here at 12:30 p.m., arriving at the Lower California town at 1:45 p.m. They will return at 4:15 p.m., arriving here at 6:30 p.m.

The Boulder dam trip will require six hours of daylight traveling, with luncheon served aboard. Planes will leave Van Nuys, fly over Riverside, Banning, Beaumont, Palm Springs, and pick up the Colorado River near Searchlight, Nev.

The actual site of the dam and the territory to be benefited by it will be traversed. The return trip will be made via Las Vegas, Nev., Mojave Desert, the edge of Death Valley, over Barstow, Victorville, Canton Pass, San Bernardino and Van Nuys, through the San Gabriel Valley.

SENTENCE IN SAWYER CASE PENDING

Postponement Granted for Preparation of Appeal in Mail Fraud Conviction

Time for sentence of Mrs. Alice Sawyer, recently convicted on five counts of using the mails to defraud, was continued yesterday by United States District Judge Hennings, until January 15. The continuance was taken on account of preparations for a possible appeal and because of the difficulty at this time of perfecting a bond. For the first time since her trial began, Mrs. Sawyer did not appear in court on a hospital stretcher. Throughout her trial she lay on the stretcher during the taking of testimony.

Mrs. Sawyer was convicted of having obtained $32,000 from J. L. Slutz, a railroad engineer of Meridian, Fla., the husband of a cousin of Mrs. Sawyer, upon the representation that she could make him considerable money through the sale of the so-called petrified body of her dead son, Theron, to scientific foundations. It was charged she had made no such arrangements.

Manager Here Heads Store in San Francisco

W. M. Norton, manager of the Sears-Roebuck & Co. Hollywood store has been appointed manager of the company's new store in San Francisco.

It was announced here yesterday. Mr. Norton was selected to head of the new venture. It was announced because of his acquaintance with western merchandising problems.

An Ohioan, he got his early education and business training in that state. From there he went to Chicago, where he joined the staff of the Boston Store and later Marshall, Field & Co. He was appointed manager of the Hollywood store when it was opened last August.

The Sears-Roebuck and Company San Francisco store is the company's first venture in the Bay region. Mr. Norton said yesterday, "but it was only a year and a half ago that the doors of our first two Los Angeles stores opened, and within the year the necessity for two more stores became imperative."

SKULL FRACTURED IN FIGHT

Jack Hand, 30 years of age, was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital from the corner of Main and Fifth streets early yesterday morning suffering from a fractured skull received, according to the police, in a fight with an unknown assailant who escaped. Hand was able to tell the police before he lapsed into unconsciousness that his home is at 108 North Grand avenue. He later was taken to General Hospital.

HARVEY VISIONS DOMINANT WEST

Lecturer Talks to Women's City Club

Pacific, He Says, Center of Adjustment

Holds Nations Should be Part of World Scheme

Paul Harvey, lecturer, traveler and student of international relations, gave the first of a series of lectures before the Women's City Club yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Belasco Theater. His subject was "Ten Years After the Armistice." The speaker has appeared before the Women's City Club each winter for four years, and yesterday was given a warm greeting.

"Just as the Mediterranean and Atlantic basins are centers of activity, now the Pacific basin will be the center of adjustment," he said, speaking of integrating processes through which he believes the world to be passing. "California will prosper and grow, not only because it fronts on the Pacific, but because it is connected with that nation whose east coast is the Atlantic, for the Atlantic also will continue as a center of industry."

EFFECT ON ORIENT

"Around the Pacific," he continued, "20 per cent of the population is white and Christian, and 80 per cent is colored and non-Christian. The non-Christian nations have never developed individualism or given protection to individual rights. One side of the Pacific is a striking contrast to the other side. But because of the integration process, one will affect the other, and the first step is being the establishment on the coast of Asia western centers of culture and development. Hongkong and Singapore are not oriental cities, they are western, to be compared to the transporting stations of a high-powered electric line."

"Two questions arise. What will be the effect on the Orient, if it will be the effect on the West? What will be the repercussion on nations of the West?"

Emphasizing the great effect such change will have on America, Harvey drew in answer to the first an analogy of changing oriental patterns.

"Through ecology we have discovered that in development from a low to a high plane not only a physical change but a principal appears—one trait becomes dominant. With man it is mind, and the western pattern takes exactly that form. Service, as exemplified by our transportation, dominates. If you could pluck New York City out by the roots, the nation would collapse. This is not so in China. No such service exists, and life is on a low basis. The nations of the lower organisms, of which each cell is independent. Pull them apart and each goes on living as an individual."

PATTERN TO CHANGE

"So westernization will change the entire national pattern. Japan is already so far ahead in comparison with China and India that she may be counted a westernizing influence."

"The new arterial system is breaking up the old life. It is breaking down old controls faster than it can make new ones. Japan was pliable enough to bend before the new current, but China is so static that you see a breaking up—a progressive chaos that will last many years. We should do all we can to back its present regime, for that unity is very fragile, and it will not hold without much disruption and overturning."

Considering his second question, the effect on western peoples, Harvey said that in the East people will leave the soil for the cities. "While that is good, for there are now too many on the land, they will go to the cities more rapidly than they can be employed. Forward-looking westerners will say, 'There's cheap labor. Why not start an enterprise in the Orient?'"

"Take the textile industry," he continued. "In England one-half of Birmingham's factories are closed. This is the repercussion, for in the East that industry is booming." He stated, in no danger, although the effect on labor remains an important problem.

MARKETS NOT SAME

"You have all heard that the World War started through a fight for world markets," said Harvey, "and most people erroneously believe that the market problem is still the same. Instead, we must face a new world. Today competition can arise out of the South Seas, and industries may be built up in Africa. The new world is integrated world, with regions of specialization, so that the nations must not rely upon themselves, but become a part of the whole. They must concentrate on what they can raise to an advantage. The United States, for instance, has a surplus of talent, and must specialize on enterprises where talent is needed—automobiles, machinery and the like. Southern California's contribution is motion pictures and citrus fruits. And if we settle down to the thing we can produce best and look to the world's markets, the interchange will be the basis of prosperity and world peace."

Concluding with a picture of the world as he believes it will become, Harvey said "There's going to be a standardization of the world's culture, and the pattern is that of the West. But instead of making a drab uniform, uninteresting world, the change will set men and women free of the realm of routine, to express their individuality in better things."

PIONEER JEWELER OF CITY TAKEN BY DEATH

Jacob Abramson, jeweler, 79 years of age, a resident of Los Angeles for fifty-one years, died yesterday in the Good Samaritan Hospital from blood poisoning. BOY SLUGGER GIVEN HEARING

Asserted Attacker of Two Women in Court

One Victim Hardly Able to Appear in Court

Auto Stealing Also Charged Against Youth

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 31.—Lowell D. Collins, asserted "grocer boy slugger," under accusation of having criminally assaulted two women in one day and stolen the automobile of one, went on preliminary hearing before Justice Arthur L. Mundo in Township Court today with the complaining witnesses, Mrs. Helen Norvén and Miss Miriam Shaw, attack victims who identified Collins shortly after his arrest as their assailant, on the verge of nervous collapse.

The condition of Miss Shaw was due to skull injuries which she suffered about noon November 30, when she was struck by her assailant, who armed himself with a heavy poker. The wounds have been slow to heal, she stated. However, she managed to appear in court, and the hearing was held without much apparent nervous strain and relief to a couch in the judge's chamber immediately after leaving the stand.

Mrs. Norvén was not expected to be called until late today. Her condition was not ascertained, but she was said by Under Sheriff E. Cooper to be possibly worse in effect than Miss Shaw's.

Mrs. Norvén was moved from the top of the gallies at Sunset Cliff into the rising tide of the ocean several hours after the time Miss Shaw was attacked, and lay for hours before being noticed by a passer-by. Her condition is due to shock. The object of her assailant in pushing her off the precipice has not been ascertained, but it is hoped her testimony would clarify the circumstances of the case. Her automobile, which had been parked near the cliff scene, was stolen and later was found abandoned near Lake Escondido.

Collins, in addition to being accused jointly with Lerie J. Partridge, another youth, of stealing the car, is accused of the assault on the women. One count charges him with assault on Miss Shaw with a deadly weapon. The other charges assault on Mrs. Norvén with force and violence likely to produce great bodily harm.

El Centro Boy is Victim of Fatal Accident

EL CENTRO, Dec. 31.—Donald Hooper, 2-year-old son of Mrs. Catherine Hooper, residing at the Imperial county, was killed at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon when the motor car, driven by Mrs. Harry Kirsch, missed a bridge over the date canal, four miles south of here, and was overturned in the ditch. According to Mrs. Kirsch, who was almost prostrated with grief as a result of the accident, the boy was in the back seat of the car just as she reached the bridge approach. In trying to help him back to his place she lost sight of the road for an instant and the car turned over and fell in the mud at the bottom of the canal. The boy was dead before he could be released.

Hooper, went to the county farm several days ago after her husband had deserted her. She left her car in custody of Mr. Kirsch in El Centro, and the tragedy occurred today while the latter was on his way to the farm so that the boy might visit with his mother. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Coroner Bert E. Lemon, and an inquest is to be held tomorrow.

Mrs. Greenberg Missing Again

GLENDAL, Dec. 31.—Police and deputy sheriffs of Southern California are searching for Mrs. Morris Greenberg, who disappeared from her home at 347 North Adams street Saturday night and who appears to have vanished without leaving any trace after having visited at the home of E. Rehberg, 630 North Adams street.

The search was centered largely in hospitals of this city and Los Angeles. Following a report to the police that Mrs. Greenberg was in ill health, but no clues have been found to lead to her discovery.

The woman first came into the limelight last April when she was attacked and left unconscious on the back porch of her home. Her husband, Morris Greenberg, was convicted of assault in this case and now is in the County Jail under sentence for assault with a deadly weapon.

He is scheduled to appear before the court on January 14, to ask for probation. Mrs. Greenberg next attracted the attention of the police after she had removed to a ranch near Newhall, when she complained to sheriff's officers that she had been beaten in her yard by a masked man.

BIDS RECEIVED FOR MORE VALLEY PAVING

PACIFICA, Dec. 31.—Tryon & Bratt, Los Angeles contractors, have submitted the low bid of $126,200 for paving about four and a half miles in the Terra Bella avenue-Northridge street improvement district. Northridge street will be paved a width of thirty feet to Cabrini avenue and Terra Bella avenue twenty feet to San Fernando road. The improvement will give another traffic artery out of the central part of the valley toward San Fernando and the northeast.

POLICE PROVIDE DOG EXCHANGE

Stray Canines to be Offered As Pets to Youth of Ontario

ONTARIO, Dec. 31.—Save the pup and the bullet. Believing that if there is less shooting of homeless dogs there will be a great saving among the juvenile population, Ontario police are today putting into practice the theory of their new slogan.

Heretofore dogs found wandering aimlessly about the community with no visible means of support usually took the long mysterious trip over the great divide by bullet or other means.

According to the new program instituted at the police station, the dogs are better treated. Boys and girls of the community who want dogs as pets have been requested to leave their names with the desk sergeant, and whenever a stray found is brought in the youngsters are called by phone, and if the pup meets with their requirements he is turned over to the new owner.

A number of Ontario youngsters have already been made happy by this arrangement.

PIONEER DIES AT SON'S HOME

Mrs. W. E. Shepherd of Ventura Passes Away at Fresno

VENTURA, Dec. 31.—Mrs. W. E. Shepherd died last night at the home of her son, Max Enderlein, in Fresno, at the age of 78 years, word was received here today.

Mrs. Shepherd was among the best of the pioneers of the seventies. A cultured and accomplished woman, and who had many friends among the early day settlers of this section of California.

As Ella Lee Hall she came to Ventura in 1874, teaching in several places in this section and county. She later settled in Los Angeles county where her husband resided there for many years. She was devoted to club work and was one of the charter members of the Imperial county. Friday Morning Club of that city. She became well known in Los Angeles in educational and newspaper circles, filling a position on the Los Angeles Times for many years. She also was a member of the Tuesday Club here, and was one of the founders of the local Portunthip Club.

After the death of Mr. Enderlein, who met a tragic end by suicide, the remains of this county, Mrs. Shepherd returned to this county. She was married to Mr. Shepherd here in 1897 and had most of the time since made her home here, although spending much time with her son in Fresno.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been fully decided.

Adrift at Sea in Open Boat

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 31.—John Stewart and his camper companions, Bill and Bert, the three young men who battled a forty-mile wind in their attempt to reach shore after a fishing excursion in a small skiff off Topanga Canyon yesterday beached their boat between 1 and 2 a. m. this morning little the worse for their experience.

They drifted offshore about ten hours, without food or lights, while powerful searchlights of a coast guard cutter played search beams on the hope of locating them.

"We just went fishing and when we couldn't get in on account of the wind, we were out," explained John today. "We fooled the wind, anyway, because when it died down, rowing was easy."

But he couldn't remember if he ever knew them, were fast asleep in their Topanga Canyon camp and were not roused by inquirers.

CHAMBER TO HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

UPLAND, Dec. 31.—Two prominent Southern California figures are expected to have prominent parts on the program for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet during January.

Invitations have been forwarded to Burton Pitts, Los Angeles county District Attorney, and to D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway Company.

One of the features of the annual banquet will be official opening of the new Pacific Electric railway, which was recently moved from Euclid avenue to Second avenue.

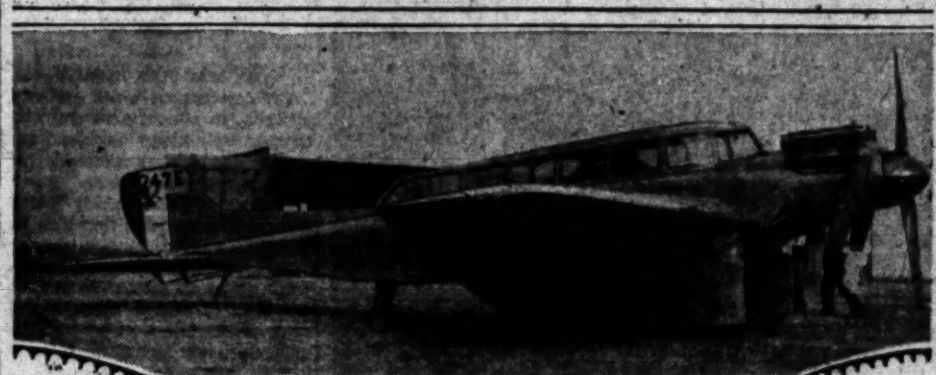

The banquet program is being arranged by a committee of which Floyd Atwood, prominent merchant, is chairman.

Premature Celebration Ends in Jail

VENICE, Dec. 31.—A premature New Year's celebration which started in an apartment at 1101 Ocean front, and wound up in the Venice Police Station, led to the arrest of Arthur Seward and Mrs. Edith Cahn at 1 o'clock this morning, according to a police report here.

Seward was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and intoxication, and Officers Collins and Wood, who were rushed to the scene when mingled cries of "Kappy New Year" and "Help!" came from the apartment-house roof, were still trying today to make a clear and coherent report on the asserted fight.

A brief synopsis of the fast action revealed that Mrs. Cahn, a guileless housewife, was thrown out of both the party and the apartment just when the fun really got to going good. Seward, the host, resists this, according to the police, and he procured a young canon of a revolver from a dresser drawer.

Flourishing the gun he threatened Charles Storm and Jess and Hayden Mann, musicians, who happened to return home to the apartment-house just in time to find themselves called upon to finish trouble they had not started.

W. B. Binkley, proprietor of the apartment, attempted to restore order, only to be chased back to his apartment by Seward, who took a shot at the floor as he sped down the hallway.

Thereafter, according to the report, Seward took his stand at the head of the stairway and defied anyone, armed or unarmed, to come up or down.

He remained there until he discovered the others were attempting to outflank him by using a fire escape to get to the roof, on this ensuing assault on the top of the building was said to have produced cries for help which rang throughout Venice.

When the police arrived, Seward was declared to be a fire, and he was taken to the station, where he was held in a cell. He was released today by Seward, who took a shot at the floor as he sped down the hallway.

INSTALL TELETYPE IN SHERIFF'S OFFICE

SAN DIMAS, Dec. 31.—That the Sheriff's office is equipped with a new teletype device over which direct communication is maintained with the Sheriff's office in Los Angeles and eight other substations was announced today by Capt. Tom Gordon, who is holding open house at the local substation.

The teletype is now operating between the San Dimas office as well as received from other points in the Southern.

The device is something on the order of a typewriter which works on the principle of the printer telegraph, used in newspaper offices. It speeds up communication between various police offices and thus facilitates the arrests of criminals.

YOUTHFUL YEGGS ROB GAS STATION

SAN JUAN CASTRANO, Dec. 31.—Two youthful bandits escaped with $80 in cash from the cash register of a Richmond oil station at Capistrano Beach late last night, after covering the station-tender, Arley Feeder of Tustin, with a revolver.

The youths drove to the station in a car and purchased a quart of oil. One of them followed Feeder inside to get his change and when Feeder opened the register, the bandit prodded him in the back with a gun.

"I'll make change for you, brother," he remarked.

CHAMBER TO UPHOLD TROLLEYWAY PLAN

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 31.—The Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting presided over by President Bundy today, refused to reconsider the plan it has endorsed for the opening and improvement of trolleyway between this city and Venice. The plan has been approved by the City Commissioners, and the chamber's stand was that the customary procedure should govern any further action.

If the commissioners draw up an ordinance of intention to carry out the improvement, directors maintained, property owners desiring to protest will be given a formal hearing before its adoption or rejection.

Officers Hunt Missing Girl

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 31.—Police of Santa Barbara and San Francisco were searching today for Muriel Cox, 14 years of age, who disappeared from her home here Saturday afternoon and is asserted to have been given up for lost by her father.

The oil worker, Barney Treadway, 26, is in the City Jail facing a statutory charge while police are searching for the girl.

Muriel Cox, who is missing for her age, disappeared Saturday afternoon on route to the postoffice, and police, at the request of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Cox, traced her to an apartment-house where a girl friend resided. The girl denied knowledge of her whereabouts, but questioned again yesterday admitted that she had spent the night there in company of Treadway, who was arrested a short time later.

Treadway, who police say admitted his connection with the affair, denied knowledge of the present whereabouts of the Cox girl, but declared that he thought she had gone to San Francisco. He is held in the City Jail until the girl's father can swear to a complaint.

Commenting on the flight, Pilot Angel, who had never seen the plane until a few minutes before taking it off and giving it only a cursory look, said he believed it was a taxicab of the field before he was called to the plane to go into a tailspin.

This new scout plane has been financed by a small group of Los Angeles capitalists and is headed by Thomas M. Bridges, a famous engineer known for similar work with the United States government during the World War. Sufficient funds are pledged for a full operating company and a site has been selected for the plant at once, and go into immediate production. Three models of the plane will be built for commercial purposes and at popular air prices.

TWO SPEND NIGHT IN OPEN BOAT

VENTURA, Dec. 31.—Two men who spent the night in a twenty-one-foot open launch last night after they had run out of gasoline were towed to the wharf this afternoon by the Associated Boat Lovers. The men's names were Black and Franklin.

The pair started from Point Mugu for a point on the Rincon Point, but when they failed to arrive an alarm was spread and the Coast Guard boat patrolling here was asked to keep a lookout. They were sighted from the wharf this afternoon rowing in.

ECONOMY PROGRAM IN CITY PARK SYSTEM

MONROVIA, Dec. 31.—Preliminary work in the economy program planned to eliminate part of the expense of a new lighting system in Library Park is now under way with the removal of 1165 feet of sidewalk which is to be planned in lawn.

The improvement will eliminate the old-fashioned "checkerboard" outline of walks and will save expense for new sidewalks, according to city officials.

VAN NUYS TO HAVE THEATER COMPANY

VAN NUYS, Dec. 31.—Van Nuy is to have its own local theatrical stock company. Harry H. Davidson has leased the Riviera Theater building, which has been unused for several months, and will install a company of twenty players. Up-to-date comedies and dramas will be given. An orchestra with leader will be used. Davidson is a veteran theater man with long experience with stock players.

GIRL IS GIVEN JOB WITH VALLEY POLICE

VAN NUYS, Dec. 31.—Miss Gertrude Van Nuy has been appointed clerk in charge of the record department of the San Fernando Valley division of police, with headquarters here. She also will act as assistant to Miss Helen Mauldin, secretary to Capt. F. E. Kiersey, commanding the division.
